Gemini 7 Heroes Back From Space

14 Day Mission Achieved

SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP) — America's champion Gemini 7 astronauts plunged happily back to earth Saturday after man's longest and most significant voyage in the strange world of space.

"Better than expected," summed up doctors' first findings on the bearded pilots, Air Force Lt. Col. Frank Borman and Navy Cmdr. James A. Lovell Jr., home from an historic 14-day flight.

Aside from a few wobbly steps, their first since slipping into their tiny spaceship Dec. 4, neither showed any initial ill effects from the two-week ordeal.

"I'm dirty," Borman declared cheerfully. "But it's good, honest dirt."

Lead Space Race

The flight of Gemini 7, highlighted by a historic rendezvous with Gemini 6, brought the United States all major manned spaceflight records, putting the nation a great stride forward in its race to the moon.

With pinpoint accuracy, Borman and Lovell made their fiery dive home just the way they wanted — so good in fact, they may have won a bet from Gemini 6 pilots Walter M. Schirra Jr. and Thomas P. Stafford who preceded them from space two days earlier.

The wager of an undisclosed amount was on which spacecraft landed closest to the aiming point.

Borman fired his braking rockets without a hitch at 8:28 p.m. EST over the Pacific Ocean. Slowed by a large, orange and white parachute after earth's gravity took grip, Gemini 7 pitched into the Atlantic about 565 miles southwest of Bermuda, right on schedule at 9:05 a.m.

Land Near Carrier

The pilots came down 12.6 miles from the carrier, out of sight of the ship. Borman claimed the bet. Schirra and Stafford splashed into the water about 14.6 miles from the Wasp.

Regardless of who pays, Gemini 7 and 6 were closer to their landing spot than any previous Gemini spacecraft.

Borman, as command pilot, chose to be hoisted with his traveling companion from the craft to a helicopter hovering overhead for the short ride to the carrier — a preference he announced before the flight.

After opening the hatch, as the craft bobbed in the water, Borman stood up. Then Lovell was the first to be lifted into the helicopter.

One of the rescuers commented to newsmen that both astronauts were pale and "looked like ghosts." But, he added, "their spirits were real good and they were really happy to be back."

Complete 206 Orbits

It was the end of a long journey—330 hours and 35 minutes, 206 trips around the globe and 5,129,400 miles.

At the electric moment the 'copter touched down on the ship's deck 30 minutes after splashdown, the ship's band struck up a rousing "Anchors Aweigh."

Physicians Deem Astronaut Pair Completely Fit

ABOARD USS WASP (AP) — Preliminary medical tests show the 14-day Gemini 7 flight left no serious physical or mental marks on astronauts Frank Borman and James A. Lovell Jr.

Space agency doctors said Saturday afternoon, after several hours of testing, that the Gemini 7 crew appears to be in "better shape" than the crew of Gemini 5, which was up almost eight days.

Dr. Howard Minners, chief recovery physician, said neither astronaut showed any sign of space or sea sickness.

"Lovell was just a bit queasy during the egress from the spacecraft," Minners said. "Borman was just a little unsteady also, but in both cases it was very slight."

"They had no symptoms of disorientation," Minners said. "We're obviously overjoyed that the fatigue response was so benign."

He said both astronauts are tired, but not overly so. There was a fall in blood pressure as was expected but "they did not show any marked raise of heart as in the Gemini 5."

During the flight, Borman lost 9.6 pounds and Lovell lost 5.9. Michael Brzezinski, space agency technical debriefer, said the pair will be flown to Cape Kennedy Sunday morning for three days of debriefing and reporting.

After the medical testing, the two astronauts got a chance to shave and shower and attend a dinner with officers of the Wasp. Their noon meal included lean steak, broccoli, hot rolls, and butter, and iced tea. Aboard the spacecraft, their meals were limited to specially treated bite sized food, some of it dehydrated.

One of the swimmers who helped the astronauts out of the spacecraft said Borman and Lovell "looked like ghosts" when they first emerged, but added they needed no assistance.

Longer Flights Planned

SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP) — With the flights of Gemini 6 and 7, the Gemini program has achieved all but one of its major goals.

The National Aeronautics and Space Agency now will start applying what has been learned to more sophisticated missions leading to manned lunar landings.

On tap for the remaining five Gemini launchings, all scheduled in 1966, are quick rendezvous missions, linkups with more than one satellite, and extensive astronaut walks in space.

Discussing the completion of the Gemini 6-7 mission Saturday, Dr. Robert R. Gilruth, director of the Manned Spacecraft Center, said:

Successful Year

"The flights climaxed a fabulous year for manned space flight. Since March the United States has sent five two-man crews into space and recovered them all safely."

"We now have accomplished the major Gemini goals. Among them were long-duration flight of 14 days, extra-vehicular activity (space walk), controlled re-entry and landing and rendezvous."

Actual hookup with another satellite is the only major Gemini goal not achieved. The Gemini 6 pilots, Walter M. Schirra Jr. and Thomas P. Stafford, originally planned to dock with an Agena satellite, but had their flight wiped out when the Agena failed to reach orbit.

The rendezvous with Gemini 7 was substituted. After coming within six feet of Gemini 7 astronauts Frank Borman and James Lovell, Schirra said: "Docking will be easy."

The Gemini program director, Charles Mathews, said:

"Gemini 7 and 6 demonstrated two spaceships can rendezvous. Now we'll work on more elaborate rendezvous techniques which will be more useful to the Apollo moon landing program."

Schedule Linking

He said that on Gemini 8, scheduled in March or April, two methods will be used to catch and link up with an Agena satellite.

"First, we'll try it in much the same way as Gemini 6 caught Gemini 7," Mathews said. "Then we'll try it without the use of radar and computer aids — with optical techniques only. We'll be looking at developments more a more operation."

The crew for Gemini 8 will be Neil A. Armstrong, veteran X15 rocket plane pilot and Air Force (Continued On Page 13)

Hanoi, Go-Between Accuse U.S. Of Shunning Peace

Italian Says Ho Still Set To Negotiate

TOKYO (AP) — Hanoi accused the United States of a peace hoax Saturday but an Italian involved in the diplomatic counter-fire insisted again he personally heard North Vietnamese President Ho Chi Minh say he would "go anywhere and meet anyone to negotiate for peace."

Prof. Giorgio la Pira also told newsmen in Florence, Italy, that Ho did not insist on a withdrawal of U.S. troops from South Vietnam before negotiations could begin.

Taking sharp issue with a charge by Hanoi radio that his story of Ho's peace feeler was a "sheer groundless hoax," the professor said:

"I confirm that I and Prof. Mario Primicerio, when we were received Nov. 11 at the Presidential Palace in Hanoi, heard from President Ho Chi Minh's own voice that he was prepared for the good of his people to go anywhere and meet anyone to negotiate for peace."

He (Ho) added that negotiations presupposed a cease fire, would have to have as a basis the 1954 Geneva accords specified in the four points of (North Vietnamese Premier) Pham Van Dong and could begin immediately and without the immediate withdrawal of U.S. troops as a precondition.

La Pira's travelling colleague, Primicerio, added: "Secretary of State Dean Rusk is to be blamed because he obviously wasted this mission to fail by disclosing in advance what had been done."

U.S. government sources in Washington have deplored disclosure of the peace hint for just that reason.

A broadcast by the North Vietnamese news agency — VNA — from Hanoi referred to Friday's State Department report that the Communist regime had put the feeler out to Washington through two Italian visitors to Hanoi last month. The Italians relayed the contents of talks they had with President Ho Chi Minh and Premier Pham Van Dong to Italian Foreign Minister Amintore Fanfani, who is president of the U.N. General Assembly.

Fanfani followed up with a letter to President Johnson and an exchange with Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

The State Department on Friday expressed caution about the so-called peace feeler but said it was seeking clarification from Hanoi.

The Italians quoted Ho as saying he was willing to meet anyone and go anywhere for peace talks and that it was not necessary, as a precondition, that U.S. troops withdraw from South Vietnam.

The Hanoi broadcast was made first in French and then in English.

It told of the visit of Italians Giorgio la Pira, former mayor of Florence, and a Prof. Primicerio Nov. 11 and said Ho and the premier told them North Vietnam still demands an end to aggression in the South, an end to U.S. air attacks on the North, withdrawal of all U.S. troops and weapons, and a solution to Vietnamese problems worked out by the Vietnamese people themselves.

British Account

"Such are the facts," the English broadcast said. "Yesterday morning, December 17, 1965, however, the U.S. State Department published news reports based on the content of a message from Italian Foreign Minister Amintore Fanfani, chairman of the U.N. General Assembly, to U.S. President Lyndon Johnson, dealing with what they called 'a probe about negotiation' on the part of the government of the Democratic Republic of (North) Vietnam. These news reports were sheer groundless fabrication."

Then, in a commentary, the news agency said:

"This act of the U.S. is part of its peace hoax. It is known to everybody that each time the U.S. imperialists jabbered about 'peaceful negotiations,' they intensified and expanded the war in Viet Nam."

Ike Released From Hospital

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, hospitalized with a heart attack since Nov. 9, returned to his Gettysburg home Saturday, flashed his famous grin and wished the nation and the world a happy holiday.

Appearing in good health as he arrived at his farm in this central Pennsylvania community, Eisenhower turned before entering the wreath-covered door, waved, and said: "We wish everybody a Merry Christmas."

The five-star general, now 75, was released earlier Saturday from Walter Reed Army Medical Center in Washington.

His wife, Mamie, a Secret Service man and a chauffeur were with him on the 80-minute ride in a black limousine.

"I'm feeling fine," he told a small group of photographers and a newsmen after he had arrived at the farm.

"Doesn't he look good?" Mrs. Eisenhower commented, smiling broadly.

RUSSIANS WITNESS FEAT

MOSCOW (AP) — Millions of Russians saw on Moscow television Saturday night a film of the historic space rendezvous by U.S. Gemini capsules. A brief portion of the film taken by the American astronauts was shown on the late evening news that is broadcast across the country.

Moscow television also reported the landing of Gemini 7 Saturday but showed no film or pictures of it.

Predict De Gaulle Victory

PARIS (AP) — Public opinion polls indicated Saturday Gen. Charles de Gaulle will get about 55 per cent of the votes in Sunday's runoff presidential election against Francois Mitterrand.

The polls credited De Gaulle with a stronger position than scattered checks earlier in the week had shown. These informal samplings by political leaders had pointed to a neck-and-neck race, with perhaps only 1 or 2 per cent separating the candidates, and leaving the victor in doubt.

Goes to Country

President De Gaulle went to his country home at Colombey-les-Deux-eglises in eastern France Saturday. He will vote there and hear the returns there in the evening. Mitterrand will vote at Chateau-Chinon in central France. He is mayor of that locality.

Cloudy weather was predicted for most of the nation with the possibility of showers in the northern half. This would be an improvement over the stormy, rainy weather that prevailed in many parts of France two weeks ago in the first leg of the presidential race.

But the voter turnout is expected to be below that in the first round, when only 15 per cent of the 28 million registered voters failed to cast their ballots.

Backs Mitterrand

Jean Lecanuet, 45, a senator who campaigned in a pro-European unity platform in the first round and got 15 per cent of the votes, has called on his supporters not to vote for De Gaulle though he stopped short of endorsing Mitterrand.

Lecanuet finished in third place and was eliminated from the race. The 3,775,000 voters who backed him, however, could decide the outcome Sunday.

Astronauts Get Congratulations From Johnson

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson sent individual letters of praise Saturday to the four rendezvous-in-space astronauts and informed three of them they were getting military promotions.

Typical of the congratulations Johnson bestowed was his statement, in a letter to command pilot Walter Schirra of Gemini 6, that he was sending "the highest praise a president can bestow — you made us all proud."

To Thomas Stafford of the Gemini 6 crew, he wrote, "no words of mine can add to the luster of the triumph you have just shared." All the astronauts except Schirra — a Navy captain — will be promoted one grade. It is standing policy to grant such promotions to all (Continued On Page 13)

VC Mortars Shell Saigon Outskirts

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The Viet Cong attacked a section of Saigon with mortar and heavy automatic arms fire a few minutes before midnight Saturday.

It was the first time in the Vietnamese war that the Viet Cong have used mortar fire against the capital.

Three mortar rounds were fired into an outlying portion of Cho Lon, an area inhabited mainly by Chinese.

Informal sources said there were no casualties. The shells struck an area less than four miles from the heart of the sprawling city's downtown business district.

Intense Fire

The heavy automatic fire was described as intense while it lasted.

The attack came from the rice paddy fields that stretch southwestward from the city. Neither Saigonese police nor other reliable sources could estimate the number of Viet Cong involved in the attack.

Viet Cong have attacked government positions near the city on many occasions, some of them recently, and they have engaged Vietnamese forces on the outskirts of Saigon.

Curfew Set

The attack came only hours after the U.S. military command in Saigon had clamped a dusk to dawn curfew on American military personnel as a means of protecting U.S. troops here from terrorist attacks that have increased in the past few days.

Propose Forming Group To Halt Voting Frauds

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican leaders urged Saturday night the creation of a bipartisan advisory commission on voting and national elections to help guard against fraud at the polling place.

"No weaknesses in the American system are as glaring as those that permit the frauds which have violated the integrity of some of our recent elections," the Republican Coordinating Committee said.

In a report formally adopted Dec. 13, the policymaking council pointed to Chicago, Texas and Arkansas and said there were voting irregularities in all three and the Democrats were to blame.

At the same time, the GOP committee accused the Democrats of pressing federal employees for political contributions. "Neither the Civil Service Commission nor the Department of Justice has taken any steps to prevent the recurrence of these practices or punish the wrongdoers who committed them," the policy paper said.

The committee urged also that similar bipartisan state commissions be created.

It proposed a federal law court to hear complaints from defeated candidates who cannot get prompt relief under state procedures.

Social Security Benefits Viewed As Far Too Low

WASHINGTON (AP) — A task force of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce said Saturday the $44 minimum monthly Social Security benefit is unrealistically low and called for all Americans to be brought into the Social Security program.

In a report on the sick, disabled and aged, the 100-business leaders on the task force studying the problems of poverty, call also for:

Liberal Russ Writers In Forceful Uprising

By PRESTON GROVER
PARIS (AP)—The liberal Russian writers and artists have gained a measure of freedom where apparently it cannot be reversed.

Despite periodic setbacks Soviet writers and artists have gained a measure of freedom where apparently it cannot be reversed. It is the announced purpose of the Communist party to oblige writers to help educate the people in the direction of communism, to support party discipline, and to avoid those liberal tendencies found in the West.

By their own initiative, writers and artists and musicians have put a new interpretation on their duty. It is to act as the vanguard leading the country away from the old and toward the new.

This correspondent has spent the major part of the past seven years in the Soviet Union, and the changes in that period are important.

By a curious turn, the whole recent tendency of the country is to revive a respect for what is old and historic in the country, and to denounce what is old in communism. Except for the period when Lenin was in control, a short period, most of the rest of the nearly half century of communism is under critical fire. This includes the Stalin era and is beginning to include the succeeding eight years when Khrushchev was dominant.

This doesn't mean that the writers and artists find communism itself bad, although a few talk bitterly about life under party rule. It simply means that they want to see changes.

The setback of the present is serious, but liberals are not too greatly depressed by it. Two respected writers are awaiting trial on charges of publishing matter abroad which the party leaders considered harmful to the cause. They are Andrei Sinyavsky, critic and writer for the liberal Moscow magazine New World; and Yuli Daniel, a Leningrad literary translator. Both are 40.

Five years ago anyone jailed for his writing would have found his friends abandoning him in fear they might also be involved. But not now. Sinyavsky's wife is being entertained by friends in Moscow and sympathy is expressed for the two men.

Truant Returns When Hunting Season Ends

SOMONAUK, Ill. (AP) — Teachers and pupils at the Somonaux village school were understandably upset when a regular attendant was absent for a month without a word of explanation.

But when Bambi, a baby deer, returned to school this week, no excuse was necessary. His period of truancy coincided with the deer-hunting season.

Bambi had become a familiar sight in Somonaux, a town of 1,000 in southeastern De Kalb County, since he wandered into a farmyard last spring when he was about a week old.

Bottled by the occupants of the farmhouse, Bambi soon began taking daily walks through town, stopping regularly at doors where he knew handouts of lettuce, green vines, pumpkins, crackers and candy bars would be forthcoming.

A regular stop, said Verne H. Grandgeorge, 62, proprietor of the local drugstore, was the schoolhouse, where Bambi would play with the children and occasionally, "come right in the door when play was over."

On Nov. 19 Bambi didn't show up at his familiar haunts. When days went by with no sign of him, townspeople began worrying.

"We sure thought he was done for when he disappeared at the start of the hunting season," said Grandgeorge.

Hunters bagged 7575 deer during the split hunting season in Illinois — three days beginning Nov. 19 and another three days beginning Dec. 3.

But Bambi was not among them. Grandgeorge is of two minds about the deer's disappearance.

"This must be a pretty smart deer to hide out from the start of one hunting season until the end of the second," he said.

On the other hand, "maybe some concerned person caught him and kept him till it was over" even though tying up a deer is against the law and carries a $500 fine.

But Bambi is sticking it out during the bow and arrow season on deer that began Nov. 24 and runs through Dec. 31. Somonaux Boy Scouts have plastered the town with signs reading: "Tame Deer — Don't Shoot."

Former Greene Residents Die

CARROLLTON — Relatives and friends here have received word of the deaths of two former Carrollton residents, Mrs. Henry Byland of Maryville, Mo., and Mrs. Bessie W. Lang of Boynton Beach, Fla.

Mrs. Byland died Tuesday at a hospital in Maryville, Mo., where she had been a patient two weeks following a fall in which she fractured her hip.

She was born in Carrollton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Andrews. She married Henry Byland, who died several years ago.

Surviving are three sons: Dr. Ben Byland, Dr. Samuel Byland and Dr. Conrad Byland all of Maryville, Mo., and several grandchildren. She also leaves two brothers, Allen Andrews and George Andrews both of Carrollton.

Funeral services were held Thursday in Maryville and interment was in a Moberly, Mo. cemetery.

Mrs. Lang, Mrs. Bessie W. Lang, 87, who resided in Carrollton for many years, died in November at a nursing home at Boynton Beach after a hip fracture suffered July 22.

Funeral services were held at the Scobee-Combs Funeral Chapel in Boynton Beach.

THE VIEW FROM THE PYRAMID—It's a breathtaking view, but you have to work to get it, as these tourists discovered. Climbing the 5,000-year-old, 481-foot Great Pyramid of the Pharaoh Cheops, one of the Seven Wonders of the Ancient World, is a high point in more ways than one of a visit to Egypt. The walk "upstairs" takes a half hour over 2 1/2-ton granite blocks, but the reward is a sweeping view of the green Nile delta merging with brown desert sands. In the background is the pyramid of Chephren, son of Cheops.

Chinese Allow Greene Airman To Receive Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Communist Chinese government has given permission for monthly packages for an American Air Force pilot held in that country, the American Red Cross said Friday.

Capt. Phillip Eldon Smith was captured by the Red Chinese after his plane was shot down last September. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Smith of Roodhouse, Ill. His wife, Judith, lives in Victorville, Calif.

Smith will become the fifth American currently held in China to receive the parcels. The other four are all civilians.

Packages for Smith will begin Dec. 30. They must be sent both from his family and from the American Red Cross and contain such items as food, toothpaste and shaving cream. A Red Cross field director flies to Hong Kong each month with the packages, turning them over to a representative of the Chinese Red Cross.

Says Delinquency Sign Can Be Seen At 2 To 3

By VIVIAN BROWN
CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — A noted criminologist said today children who are likely to become juvenile delinquents can be singled out when only two to three years old.

Dr. Eleanor Tuoroff Glueck, a researcher at Harvard University, announced this conclusion after years of studying infant and family characteristics.

She said the findings offer new hope for preventive action in individual cases before serious delinquency actually develops.

Dr. Glueck and her husband, Sheldon, who is professor of criminal law at Harvard Law School, devised the widely used Glueck Social Prediction Table based on a 1950 study of children in the 5½- to 6-year-old range.

Dr. Glueck has now added two factors which she said makes the table effective for weighing up the delinquency potential still earlier in life.

Two years ago the New York City Youth Board reported that a 10-year study using the original Glueck table showed that of 33 boys it identified as having a high delinquency potential at school-entering age, 25, or 84.8 per cent, became persistent offenders before the age of 17.

Of 243 boys identified as unlikely to become delinquent, only 9, or 2.9 per cent, did so. Dr. Glueck believes the revised table will prove equally accurate in assessing younger children.

The original table was based on three factors. Two were social: (1) undesirable parental traits such as criminality, alcoholism, emotional disturbance or mental retardation, and (2) the degree of parental affection for the child. One was constitutional: the degree of child restlessness.

FRANKLIN FHA TOURS MUSEUM

A tour of the St. Louis Museum was the high point of the Franklin Future Home-maker's annual trip to St. Louis. Thirty-seven members accompanied by their adviser, Mrs. Jean Chapman, and bus

The revised table adds two constitutional factors: infant destructiveness and resistance to authority.

Dr. Glueck said that since the two parental factors are apparent from the time of the child's birth, she is hopeful that "identification of potential delinquents can eventually be pushed back beyond even the two-to-three-year level."

She placed the primary blame of delinquency on "the weakening American family."

Dr. Glueck said that while lack of family cohesion is the principal source of problem behavior, children with certain characteristics are more likely than others to respond to an adverse environment by becoming delinquent.

driver, Ralph Long, made the all day trip.

The morning tour included viewing of early English, French, Spanish and American furniture, Chinese porcelain and many paintings and sculpture.

Members making the tour were Martha McCormick, Marsha Casson, Patty Davies, Mary Peek, Lila Starnes, Vickie Reveal, Ann Foster, Cheryl Johnson, Mary Smith, Jane Richardson, Sally Ryan, Debbie Caldwell, Carol Jean Anderson, Cudie Bergschneider, Sandy Johnson, Sharon Seymour, GayAnn Wright, Kathy Twyford, Jean Boston, Jane Boston, Patsy Chaudoin, Helen Bilski, Debbie Denham, Debbie Reed, Shirley Seymour, Joyce Richardson, Jody Calhoun, Joyce Crow, Mary Ann White, Monica White, Mary Lou Robinson, Janet Neal, Beverly Neal, Barb Watson and Judy Crow.

Believe Fliers Could Endure Space 30 Days

By RALPH DIGHTON
AP Science Writer

SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP)—The record-breaking flight of Gemini 7's "crummy and itchy" crew has already persuaded medical officers that future pilots will be able to endure the confinement of space travel for at least 30 days.

Dr. Charles A. Berry, Gemini flight surgeon, says, "There is no limit to in-flight time if we can solve the comfort problem."

"I personally feel the Gemini 7 astronauts will be in no worse shape after 14 days than the Gemini 5 pilots were after eight days," he said.

Air Force Men Win Promotions

James R. Reynolds, son of Mrs. Ione Reynolds of Carrollton and Leon W. Holder, whose wife, Sandra is the daughter of H. A. Owens of Roodhouse, recently received Air Force promotions.

Reynolds, a graduate of Carrollton High school, has been promoted to technical sergeant. He is a materiel supervisor at Grand Forks Air Force Base, N.D. and is a member of the Strategic Air Command, the nation's combat ready intercontinental missile and bombing force.

Holder, a work control technician at Amarillo Air Force Base, Tex., received a promotion to the rank of master sergeant. He is a member of the Air Training Command which provides flying, technical and education programs for the Air Force.

MRS. CODY HOSTS CIRCLE DORCAS CHRISTMAS MEET

Circle Dorcas of Grace Methodist church held its Christmas meeting Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Willard Cody. Nineteen members and three guests, Dr. and Mrs. Frank Nestler and Mrs. Roy Davenport, were present.

Mrs. John Reardon offered the prayer and the business session was conducted by Mrs. Victor Kruse. Dr. Nestler, whose topic was "It's Good that Christmas Comes Around," was introduced by Mrs. William Hodgson, the program chairman.

Mrs. A. G. Cody, Mrs. J. Graham and Mrs. Paul Black presided at the tea table which was decorated in a Christmas theme. Mrs. Frank Nestler and Mrs. Howard Walls poured.

The meeting closed with group singing.

VFW AUXILIARY OFFICER VISITS LOCAL GROUP

Mrs. Alicia Tyrell of Chicago, department hospital director for the V.F.W. Auxiliary, visited the local V.F.W. Auxiliary Tuesday. Adeline Warmoth is the local department hospital chairman.

Mrs. Tyrell also attended the auxiliary's Christmas party for veterans at Jacksonville State Hospital.

VFW AUXILIARY HAS EARLY BIRD DINNER

The Auxiliary to Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 1379 held its Early Bird dinner at the Post home Dec. 8. A turkey dinner was served. Chairman for the affair Betty Ann Baptist, was in charge assisted by Clara Tribble, Virginia Houston, Velma Jones, and Hazel Roman.

There was also a gift exchange and a white elephant sale, with the proceeds of the sale being used for the auxiliary's cancer fund.

A business meeting was held following the dinner with a vote made to send $25 to the Tree of Lights drive.

A Christmas party for veterans at the state hospital and a party for female patients who are closely related to veterans, was discussed by department chairman Adeline Warmoth and co-chairman Marjorie Hull.

A report was made on a Thanksgiving basket given a needy family.

SAFEGUARD ILLINOIS RIVER FROM STEEL PLANT

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—The Illinois Sanitary Water Board said Friday that Jones & Laughlin Steel Co. has given assurances its steel plant at Hennepin will have facilities to protect the Illinois River from detrimental discharge.

The board announced results of a conference held to explore problems the steel plant will pose. A similar conference will be held later to discuss control of air pollution.

jammed cabin Air Force Lt. Col. Frank Borman and Navy Cmdr. James A. Lovell Jr. have been unable to bathe, shave or even stretch out full length since their launch Dec. 4.

They have voiced few complaints, however, except to say they felt "crummy and itchy" and that they were too warm when required to wear pressure suits. When allowed to strip down to their long underwear, both agreed that was "the only way to fly."

"Admittedly, Gemini 7 is a small spacecraft," Berry said in an interview toward the end of the two-week flight. "But if they had a larger vehicle in which they could move around I believe they could go 30 days or even longer."

"These two men have adapted normally in their heart rates, sleep and performance. For the rest of the flight we are going to watch closely the small comfort items that may get more bothersome, such as the simple problem of getting clean."

Berry said Borman and Lovell have shown no signs of the motion sickness suffered by two of the three men aboard the Russian Voskhod 1 spacecraft in October 1964.

One of the two was a doctor, the other a scientist. Their commander, an experienced fighter pilot, felt no ill effects.

Berry pointed out that the United States also plans to send scientists into space but they are being given flight training first.

Mrs. Ruby Miles Dies, Rites Set In California

Mrs. Ruby Jane Miles, 61, a former local resident who had lived in Ventura, Calif. for the past seven years, passed away at Holy Cross hospital at 7:30 p.m. Friday. She had been a patient at the hospital for three weeks.

Mrs. Miles was born at Palmyra Jan. 31, 1904; daughter of John and Lillian Sanson Waters. She was married to Edgar Lee Miner in 1921 and two daughters of this union survive. They are Maxine, wife of Ralph Underwood and Mala, wife of William Brixie, both of Ventura.

In 1951, she was married to Samuel Miles, who preceded her in death in April 1963.

Mrs. Miles leaves the following stepchildren: Mrs. Ruth Miller of Winchester, Mrs. Flora Moore and Mrs. Helen Blue, both of Ventura, Calif.; Raymond Miles and Walter Miles, both of Jacksonville, Mrs. Grace Means of Peoria, Kenneth Miles of Monterey Park, Calif. and Mrs. Esther Howe of Oxnard, Calif. Also surviving are 45 grandchildren, 13 great-grandchildren, a brother, Bud Walters of Sacramento, Calif. and one sister, Mrs. Ruth Ralston of Hattick.

Mrs. Miles was a member of the Ventura Women of the Moose.

The body was taken to the Williamson Funeral Home. Funeral services and burial will be in Ventura, Calif.

SALEM LUTHERAN AID INSTALLS NEW OFFICERS

The Salem Lutheran Ladies Aid installed officers when they met Dec. 15 at the church. Rec. H. C. Rose installed the officers who are Mrs. P. J. Davidsmeyer, president; Mrs. Walter Uhnken, vice president; Mrs. Harold Tomhave, secretary and Mrs. Roy Lovekamp, treasurer.

Mrs. George Obertate presided. Rev. Rose led the devotions. Mrs. Harold Tomhave and Mrs. Roy Lovekamp gave the secretary's and treasurer's reports. Mrs. H. C. Rose and Mrs. Thomas Hardwick, volunteer workers at Jacksonville State Hospital, reported that a Christmas party had been held Dec. 15, under the volunteer service program at Jacksonville State Hospital. The Ladies Aid voted to give $25.00 to its hospital committee to help defray expenses for this program.

Mrs. Laura Hallberg reported the stamp collection had been mailed to the mission fund. Mrs. E. J. Kormeyer stated a Christmas dinner was served Dec. 12 to 27 pupils of Illinois Braille & Sightseeing School at Salem School hall. A Christmas-theme program in which the pupils participated followed. Leroy Peterson, vicar from Springfield Concordia Seminary, was guest speaker.

Mrs. J. A. Long reported on visits to the sick and shut-ins.

Seventh and eighth grade pupils of Salem School presented a program of Christmas hymns and carols, under the direction of Roy Lovekamp, principal. This same program was presented to the patients at Jacksonville State Hospital, on Friday, Dec. 17. Mrs. Obertate gave a Christmas reading and a free-will offering was given by the Aid members for the Lutheran Child Welfare Home in River Forest, Ill.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses Mrs. H. C. Rose, Mrs. Thomas Hardwick, and Mrs. George Obertate.

TRUE BLUE CLASS HAS CHRISTMAS POTLUCK DINNER

The True Blue class held a Christmas meeting and potluck dinner recently with Mr. and Mrs. Warren Daniels, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Mallicoat and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Campbell serving as hosts.

President Joe DeGroot opened the business session with the pledge to the flag. Raymond Roach presented the secretary's and treasurer's reports. Christmas customs in other lands was used as the roll call topic. Mrs. Raymond Roach led devotions.

Following the business session, Mrs. Warren Daniels, class teacher, received a gift presented by the class president. A gift exchange closed the meeting.

Church Founded In 1823
Dedicates Wing Today

JERSEYVILLE — Services dedicating the new educational building of the Kane Baptist Church will be held at 1:30 p.m. today, according to the pastor, Reverend Edward E. Ethington.

Construction of the building began in August with the Wilson Construction Company of Alton handling the contract.

Members of the church building committee are Ralph Green, chairman; Robert Elmore, Edward Woolsey and Everett Ferguson. The new building is 60 by 30 feet and is of split level design. The first floor contains twelve class rooms while the upper level contains a room for the pastor's study and one for the superintendent's office. The remainder of the upper level forms an open assembly hall with a small stage.

The building is of wood frame construction with brick and concrete half way up and has a hot water radiant heating system.

The early history of the Kane Baptist church dates back to November 3, 1823, when Elders Joseph Lemen and John Clark constituted "The Macoupin Baptist Church of Christ," which is now known as the Kane Baptist church.

The first church in Kane was erected on the site of the old Kane schoolhouse, on land donated by Samuel Pope. With the building of the railroad and a station in Kane, a Union Church was built by the Methodists and Baptists. At a later date, the denominations decided to separate and the building became the present Methodist church.

The Baptist congregation built its church edifice on the present site. From the seven original members, it has grown to the present 275 members.

In 1964, the congregation made a number of improvements including new furnaces and a new roof. The ceiling was lowered and the sanctuary redecorated. Older members of the church at present include Miss Elsie Wheeler, who has been a member for 76 years; Mrs. Ralph Linder, 67 years; Miss Alice Woodruff and Mrs. Lydia Davenport, members for 63 years.

Christmas Events At New Berlin

NEW BERLIN — The churches of the village have planned special Christmas parties and worship services:

St. John's Lutheran church's Walther League will hold their Christmas party at 6:30 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 19, at the church and will close the program with a vesper service. At 6:30 p.m. on Monday, Dec. 20, the Walther League will go caroling.

At 1:00 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. 21, the Ladies Aid of St. John's will meet in the church basement for their Christmas Party. Christmas Eve, Dec. 24, the annual children's program will be held at 7 p.m. at the church, with treats being distributed to the children.

The Couples Club of the church held their Christmas dinner party at the Blackhawk in Jacksonville on Dec. 10. The "75 Club" observed their Christmas party with a dinner at the Downtowners in Springfield.

St. Mary's Catholic Church will have their annual Midnight Mass on Christmas Eve. Rev. Father John McGrath will have Mass at 8 a.m. and again at 9 a.m. on Christmas Day.

United Baptist Church of New Berlin will have their Christmas Program at 7 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 19. The White Gift service will be given by Mrs. W. K. Dunlap, and the Christmas Devotional by Dr. Vernon H. McNeill. "The Lord's Prayer" will be sung by Mrs. G. T. Dunlap. Carols will be sung by the primary and junior children's classes of the Sunday School. Treats will be given to the children.

The Junior Class of the Sunday School plan on caroling in mid-week. The Island Grove Methodist Church will hold its annual Christmas Program at 7 p.m. Sunday evening, Dec. 19, at the church.

The MYF of the church will go caroling at 7 p.m. Wednesday, Dec. 22.

Social

EMPTY GRAVES—The scene of a century-old bloody battle is marked by 20 white tombstones over empty graves in a lonely cemetery near Casper, Wyo. The memorial marks the spot where Indians wiped out an Army wagon train July 26, 1865. The 20 dead, all from the 11th Kansas Cavalry, are believed buried in a common grave in the area, but it has never been located. American Legionnaires from Casper have taken on the task of maintaining the cemetery and decorating the markers with flags on Memorial Day and the Fourth of July.

CHRISTMAS ART, TOPIC BEFORE ROODHOUSE WSCS

ROODHOUSE—The WSCS of the Methodist church met at the church Dec. 14, with Mrs. James H. Orr in charge of the program. W. J. Ritchey, retired superintendent of the White Hall schools, read a number of Christmas poems, some illustrated by pictures drawn by Mrs. Fred Strang, White Hall, a former art teacher. The pictures were displayed by Mr. Ritchey while he recited certain poems.

Refreshments were served by candlelight in the fellowship room.

Hostesses were Mrs. W. L. Worcester, Mrs. John W. Roberts, Mrs. James H. Orr, Mrs. James M. Orr, Mrs. Donald Barnett, Mrs. Robert Shaw, Mrs. Wilson McIver. Guests were present from White Hall and Manchester.

HONOR JOHN HUNT ON 92nd BIRTHDAY

ROODHOUSE — A dinner served at the Village Inn in Manchester, Dec. 15, celebrated the 92nd birthday anniversary of a well-known land owner and farmer, John B. Hunt, rural route 2. Hostess for the dinner was his daughter, Mrs. J. J. Grant, St. Louis, Mo. Mr. Hunt received a number of gifts.

Present besides the guest of honor and the hostess were Dallas Tate, A. L. Lucas, Mrs. Ruth Morgan, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Barnett, and Mrs. John W. Roberts.

Roodhouse Notes

James Bartlett has returned home from the Passavant hospital, Jacksonville, where he has been a surgical patient. Mr. and Mrs. Loyd Hunt and two children, Chicago, have returned home after spending the weekend with his mother, Mrs. Monroe Gilmore, and other relatives.

SOUTH VIET NAM: A Nation of Refugees

One aspect of the struggle in Viet Nam overshadowed in the news by the daily flood of battle reports is the monumental refugee problem. Of South Viet Nam's 15 million people, an estimated 600,000 are refugees. Many are crowded into slums of larger cities. Others seek shelter and security in refugee camps scattered throughout the countryside in government-controlled "islands" surrounded by Viet Cong territory. Photo right shows refugee food and supply warehouses at Quinhon. Conditions in the camps are primitive and supply is difficult, often possible only by airlift. The Saigon government provides some subsistence aid—amounting to about five cents a day for adults and half that for children—but much more must come from outside. The United States in recent months has made the refugee problem the top concern of its aid mission. Private American agencies also are helping. Their aid, which was to run at $8.5 million this year, is expected to rise considerably. The need has been estimated at $20 million or more.

Children crowd the camps, as here at Quinhon. Women, children and old men make up the bulk of the refugee population.

Patterson Youth At Lowry AFB

PATTERSON — Airman Dennis D. Dawdy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul W. Dawdy, of Patterson, has been selected for training at Lowry Air Force Base, Colorado, as an aircraft weapons systems specialist. He is a 1963 graduate of Roodhouse Community High School, and has recently completed basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas. His new address may be obtained from his parents. Mrs. Howard Lovelace returned home Thursday from Passavant Hospital in Jacksonville where she had been a patient for several days. Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Steelman of Jacksonville were Sunday evening supper guests of his mother, Mrs. Minnie Steelman. Mr. and Mrs. Howard Dawdy of Cedar City, Missouri, and his sister, Mrs. Don Chappell of Alton, called in the Ernest Dawdy, and Mr. and Mrs. Perry Dawdy homes, Monday.

Austin Kennedy of Daytona Beach, Florida was a Tuesday afternoon and supper guest of his grandfather, Charles Cowper and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wilkinson. He is spending the week in Canton, Missouri, having flown from Daytona Beach to Quincy, last Friday. He will be accompanied back to Florida on Saturday by his two daughters, Carol Ann and Christine, both students at Iowa Wesleyan College. They will spend the Christmas vacation with their parents, and son Doug and daughter Barbara, and will fly back to Iowa in January to resume their studies.

CANTERBURY TALES PROVIDE BASIS FOR YULE PROGRAM

Sixth grade pupils of Mrs. Nona Read and Mrs. Edith Davis presented a Christmas program, "Masters in This Hall," during the Lafayette school P.T.A. meeting Tuesday night.

The program was based on Chaucer's Canterbury Tales and was presented in costumes of 14th Century England. The program ended with Christmas songs directed by Leonard Poole, the elementary music coordinator.

The pledge of allegiance to the flag was led by members of Brownie Troop 78. Room count showed the greatest number of parents attending represented by Mrs. Read's sixth grade and Mrs. Thelma Denney's third grade.

Baskets of canned and packaged food were collected for needy families in the Lafayette district.

Mrs. Charles Quinn, president, announced that new drapes for the auditorium have been purchased and installed, using the proceeds from last spring's carnival. The school board agreed to pay for 20 percent of the cost.

Christmas cookies and punch were served by mothers of students in Mrs. Florence Rawlins' fifth grade and Mrs. Ellen Leinbach's second grade. Mrs. Fred Killam of the hospitality committee served as chairman. There will be no meeting in January.

LITERBERRY CHURCH HOSTS YOUTH RALLY

Young members of the Literberry Christian church hosted a meeting of the Moccasin Crusaders Youth group during which Miss Myong Kim of MacMurray College was guest speaker.

Miss Kim, a freshman at MacMurray, discussed Japan, which has been her home for the past eight years. She was born in Korea.

Lloyd McDannald, rally president, presided with Beverly Waggoner, song leader, accompanied by Mary K. McGinnis.

The Concord church received the attendance banner. Also represented at the rally were Ashland, Beardstown, Brown, and Versailles churches. The next meeting, at 7:30 p.m. Jan. 8, will be held at the Versailles Christian church.

OPEN HOUSE DEC. 19 FOR DEVORES OF LOAMI

NEW BERLIN — Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Devore of Loami will observe their 25th wedding anniversary with an open house for relatives and friends on Friday evening, Dec. 24th, from 7 to 10 p.m. at their home in Loami.

The couple was married Dec. 24, 1940, in Bowling Green, Mo. Mr. Devore, an employee of Allis-Chalmers, Springfield, for the past 24 years, served as mayor of Loami for the past three and one-half years.

Mrs. Devore is the former Alberta Dippel.

They are parents of three children: two daughters, Mrs. Ronald Heine of Deland, Illinois, and Mrs. John Watret of Waverly; one son, Kenneth, of Springfield. They have two granddaughters and one grandson.

The couple has lived in Loami for the past twenty-four years.

School Dismissed Dec. 23. All public schools of Community Unit District No. 16 will be dismissed early Thursday afternoon, Dec. 23, for the Christmas vacation. Classes will be resumed on Monday, January 3.

St. Mary's Grade School will dismiss for the holidays at the close of school on Wednesday evening, Dec. 22, and resume on Jan. 3.

Lloyd D. Jording, son of Rev. and Mrs. E. M. F. Jording, has returned to the Great Lakes Navy Training Center, Chicago, following a fourteen day leave with his folks. Jording is a hospital corpsman attending pre-medical training at the base.

WHITE HALL CLASS ENTERTAINED AT NEECE RESIDENCE

WHITE HALL — The Loyal Women's Class of the First Christian Church met recently at the home of Mrs. Ernest Neece, with her daughter-in-law, Mrs. John Neece, as co-hostess.

Mrs. Ernest Neece conducted the business meeting and cards were signed by all attending to send to Mrs. Emma Chapman, Miss Elizabeth Chapman, Mrs. Frances Vossellor, Mrs. Orval Blair, and Mrs. Harold Garrison.

Roll call was answered with Bible quotations and poems and Mrs. F. N. McLaren read several Christmas stories.

Several guests attended. Members exchanged Christmas cards, each with a favorite recipe.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Bateman entertained at dinner Sunday in honor of the birthdays of their daughter, Beverly Ann, and their granddaughter, Julia Ann Bateman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Bateman.

Attending were Mr. and Mrs. James Bateman and children of Wood River, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Goben and children of White Hall and Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Hutchinson of Alton. Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Howard and son Tom were Friday night supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Bateman in honor of Beverly Ann's birthday.

MILDRED SEEMAN HAS PROGRAM FOR TEACHERS' SOCIETY

Mildred Seeman was hostess for the Christmas meeting, Dec. 11 of Alpha Phi Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma.

Mrs. Seeman also presented the program on "My Christmas Ideas in Art and Handicraft," displaying many decorations and gifts she had made and explaining how many of the lovely decorations in her home were created.

Eva Newell, president, presided at the executive board meeting and business session which followed. Mildred Gregory, personal growth and services committee chairman, requested members bring Valentines to the February meeting to be held at the home of Mrs. Sherwood Eddy.

A ten dollar donation was voted to the Red Cross Bloodmobile. Miss Ann Long gave the thought for the day.

Mrs. Charles Barlow, Illinois College teacher and a transfer from another chapter, was welcomed as a new member and Dr. Rainbolt was a guest. Christmas carols were led by Maurine Self.

Hostesses assisting Mrs. Seeman in serving refreshments from a beautiful Christmas tea table were Lela Fairfield, Mildred Gregory, Ann Jones, Della Simmons and Elnore Stoldt.

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market last week dallied with historic highs in the averages and continued a kind of churning advance for the third straight week.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks did actually make a record closing high on Thursday at 356.5, topping its previous peak of 355.8 made Nov. 4. The AP average ended the week with a gain of 1.3 at 356.2.

The Dow Jones industrial average approached an all-time peak made in November but failed to establish new closing highs.

The Dow Jones industrials rose 5.13 to 957.85. This closely watched indicator read as high as 962.22 on Thursday but the average lost most of its gain before the day was over and closed well below its historic closing peak of 961.85 made on Nov. 4.

Steels and railroads were very strong during the week. The rails gave the market outstanding leadership, making historic peaks in both the Dow Jones and the AP averages.

The market made an undoubted gain on the week. Of 1,573 issues traded, 819 rose and 609 fell. On no session was there anything like a solid rally of any breadth.

Volume for the week was 47,744,800 shares compared with 48,891,742 in the record trading of the previous week.

The background of news was generally good. Industrial production was reported at a record in October.

After stock trading ended the week in New York, the Pacific Coast exchange was deluged with selling as word circulated of North Viet Nam peace feelers.

Bond prices continued to drift downward during the past week in a continued reaction to the previous week's boost in interest rates.

By the end of the week Treasury bond yields on some issues ranged to their highest levels since the mid 1920s. Highest yield on the list was 4.54 per cent.

On the New York Stock Exchange bond volume for the week totaled a par value of $76.02 million.

Chicago Livestock Market Report

CHICAGO (AP) — Offerings of butcher hogs last week declined rather sharply from the previous week, but the top price failed to match its $31 peak.

The supply of 24,000 head, compared with 29,000 a week earlier, and was the smallest for any full week of trading in more than two months.

The market topped at $30.25 on Thursday when only 3,000 head were on sale.

For the week, the market was 50 to 75 cents higher with the average price estimated at $28.25 compared with $16.03 a year ago. It was the fifth consecutive week of advance.

Increased supplies exerted a weakening influence in the market for slaughter steers and they finished the week 50 cents to $1 lower. On Wednesday, when most of the decline occurred, receipts were the largest for that day since August 1, 1964. The total for the first four days of the week was the largest since last January.

Folk Christmas To Be Theme Of Scott Program

The Wonder Workers Sunday School Class of the First Baptist church met recently for a Christmas party at the home of Mrs. Norbert Hutchens. Miss Ruth Reeder is the teacher of the class.

Mrs. Watson Taylor was in charge of devotions. The program, "Flowers of the Madonna and Christmas Legends," was given by Mrs. W. E. Harper.

The refreshment committee members were Mrs. Earl Claywell, Mrs. William Boston, Mrs. Roy Thompson, Mrs. Georgia Smith, Mrs. Pearl Perry and Mrs. Stella Taylor.

Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Frost have returned to their home in Los Angeles after visiting Mr. and Mrs. Fred Edwards and Cathv and relatives in Jacksonville. They were en route home from Sarasota, Florida.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Giles, Andrew, Patrick and Theresa of Camp LeJeune, North Carolina arrived here Friday evening to spend the holidays with Mrs. Giles parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dana O'Donnell. Mrs. Giles is the former Marcella O'Donnell.

Lyndell Wallis, who is stationed at Fort Ord, Cal., was met in St. Louis Friday evening by his parents Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Wallis, his brother, Rollin Wallace and Mrs. Wallis. He will spend the holidays with his parents and other relatives here.

100 At Roodhouse C Of C Employer, Employee Dinner

ROODHOUSE — One hundred people attended the December 14th meeting of the Chamber of Commerce when employers had as their guests, their employees. Invocation was offered by the pastor of the First Baptist Church, Rev. H. L. Janvrin, and the women of the church served the dinner. The tables were decorated in keeping with the holiday season and each one present received a miniature potted red or white poinsettia. President Frank A. Hopkins welcomed the members and visitors and noted that the Roodhouse National Bank members and guests numbered twenty.

Harold Bushnell was elected vice president at a short business session. Installation ceremonies were held with outgoing president installing the new officers: president, Ray Mayfield; vice president, Harold Bushnell; and secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Merle R. Mackey.

President Hopkins reported that of the 311 Christmas trees purchased by the C. of C. as a money-making project, all except 50 have been sold already.

He announced that the Centennial committee will resume meetings in January and the meetings will be held in the building in the uptown district owned by Mrs. Fred Strang, granddaughter of one of the founders of the city of Roodhouse.

Special guests present were recognized by the group. Rev. Janvrin led the members and guests in the singing of carols with Mrs. Janvrin accompanying at the piano.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Jackson, Springfield, furnished the program. Mr. Jackson performed feats of magic assisted by his wife and entertained the group with stories and other forms of entertainment.

The retiring president was presented with a plaque by the incoming president in appreciation for his contribution made while he held the office from 1961 through 1965.

Larry Derrick's name was drawn for the $5 attendance prize. He was not present so the January attendance prize will be $10.

ASHLAND CHURCH PROGRAM TONIGHT

ASHLAND — The annual children's program will be held at the local Baptist church this evening. The program will include recitations by the primary and junior departments. The Christmas story, in pageant and song, will be presented with the junior high and high school students as the choir. They will also present a choral reading.

The public is welcome.

The Original Foam Type Cleaner For Rugs and Upholsterv

Seconds later, America got its first glimpse of its newest space heroes, via live television beamed to Europe as well.

Still dressed in spacesuits, Borman and Lovell, beaming and waving, took some cautious steps onto the flight deck.

"The deck's moving," Lovell explained, getting his first feel of a solid surface in two weeks. "Hey, you all look good," Borman explained. He said his legs felt heavy at first.

Both men stretched, flexed their legs, then stood with assurance, hands on hips.

Lovell, who Borman said took on an appearance of Santa Claus during the flight, had the heavier beard — but nothing like Santa. Borman's beard was the color of his short, blond hair.

Cheer Astronauts Sailors cheered from distant points on the ship. Within minutes, after a brief chat with ship's officers, Borman and Lovell disappeared from view, putting themselves in the hands of doctors.

One of the first things Borman told the doctors was that the flight seemed a month-and-a-half long.

Doctors did not waste any time making the initial medical examinations. This was the prime purpose of the mission — to see how well man can survive the weightless environment of space for two weeks.

For 11 days, Borman and Lovell will submit to hours of medical probes and tell and retell the story of their flight. But one thing is certain, the space agency said, this debriefing period will be interrupted for a day or two to let the pilots spend Christmas with their families.

Lovell no doubt will be given time off when his wife gives birth to their fourth child, which he had predicted might be born while he was in orbit.

Stage Reunion Showered, shaven and rested, the astronauts are to fly to Cape Kennedy, Fla., Sunday. They will see Schirra and Stafford, their rendezvous buddies, for the first time since the momentous meeting in space.

Borman and Lovell are due back at the manned spacecraft center and a reunion with their families Wednesday. During the debriefing period after return to the center, they will be allowed to spend evenings at home.

The successful end of Gemini 7's epic flight culminated a busy year in the U.S. space program. Dr. Robert R. Gilruth, director of the Manned Spacecraft Center, said at a news conference the flight of Gemini 7 climaxed a fabulous year in space for the United States.

The remaining goal — that of actually linking up a manned spacecraft with an orbiting satellite — is expected to be attained on Gemini 8 in March or April on the next U.S. manned flight.

Records Broken Among records brought home by Gemini 7 and 6:

The longest manned spaceflight — 330 hours, 35 minutes, exceeding the record of 190 hours, 56 minutes by Gemini 5 astronauts L. Gordon Cooper Jr. and Charles Conrad Jr.

First rendezvous of two manned maneuverable spacecrafts — Gemini 7 and 6 flew 20 hours, 22 minutes within 62 miles of each other, including a minimum distance of six to 10 feet. Russia twice had two spacecraft within four miles of each other, but apparently not equipped to maneuver.

Total man hours in space for one nation — 1,352 hours, 42 minutes by the United States, compared to 507 hours, 16 minutes for Russia.

Most manned flights — United States 11; Russia 8.

And, most men sent into space — 16 by the United States (13 astronauts, with three of them making two flights); Russia 11.

The Soviet Union still has greater rocket booster capability and has used more powerful vehicles to launch a larger vehicle into space. Space Agency officials hope to overcome this rocket superiority in about a year with a launch of its powerful Saturn 1B rocket.

POUR FOOTINGS FOR PITTSFIELD RADIO TOWER

PITTSFIELD — The concrete footings for the new WBBA radio tower have been poured. The tower will be located 1½ miles south of Pittsfield on the Nebo road.

The remaining parts of the 288-foot tower will be erected Monday, December 20.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Petty of Pittsfield became the parents of a son born at Illinois Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Harter of Rockport became the parents of a son at Illinois Hospital.

Dale E. Galloway, one of the Pittsfield inductees into the army, suddenly became ill on the way to St. Louis last Tuesday. He is now a patient at Jefferson Barracks Hospital, St. Louis. His wife was called there to be with him.

Interview Men Here For Guards At Penitentiary

Director Ross V. Randolph of the Department of Public Safety for the State of Illinois has announced that Custodial officers for the Illinois State Penitentiary at Joliet will be hired at the office of the Illinois State Employment Service, Jacksonville.

A representative of that institution will be at the local State Employment office from 10:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m. on Wednesday, December 22, to give personal attention to interested applicants.

The present annual salary range for Guards is $4,500 to $6,180, with uniforms furnished. Assignments are on a 40-hour per week schedule. Preferred age range is 21 to 55 years.

Benefits include 2 to 3 weeks paid vacation, 12 days paid annual sick leave, and 10 paid holidays. Living quarters, along with all meals and laundry services, are available for $27 per month.

The next Officers Training School, with full pay while in training, is scheduled to start in the near future.

British Embargo Plan Halts Ship With Oil Aboard

LONDON (AP)—On orders from London, a tanker carrying 16,000 tons of crude oil to Rhodesia shifted course off East Africa Saturday in the first effective move in Britain's oil embargo to bring down the all-white Rhodesian government.

A massive Berlin-type airlift was due to begin Monday to bring oil supplies to Zambia, Rhodesia's landlocked neighbor.

In another retaliatory move, the Rhodesian government announced it is discontinuing the servicing and repayment of debts owed to the British government and international debts guaranteed by Britain. This move was in response to Britain's seizure of Rhodesian reserves in London.

Headquarters of the Shell Oil Co. in London said that as a result of the British embargo, imposed Friday night, it ordered the skipper of the Norwegian freighter Staber to turn about and head north. The vessel had been just off Beira, Mozambique, where it was to unload the oil into a pipeline leading to Rhodesia, also landlocked. A Shell spokesman said the ship now may go to Kenya.

In Lusaka, President Kenneth Kaunda of Zambia imposed gasoline rationing, to start Monday, although he said the British airlift from neighboring Tanzania would provide enough oil for his copper-producing nation. He said rationing was a precautionary measure.

Wilson's government is counting on world support — especially that of the United States — for efforts to bring down the Rhodesian regime of Prime Minister Ian Smith. Smith declared independence Nov. 11 after Britain refused to grant it unless 225,000 white Rhodesians guaranteed eventual rule by the 3.8 million Africans.

UCT Makes Gift Of $500 Check To Local JAARC

The Jacksonville council 182 United Commercial Travelers of America presented a check for $500 to the JAARC for its Pathway School the forepart of this month. The UCT council has long supported this worthwhile cause and this year marks the second consecutive contribution to the JAARC.

The council's monthly Friendship dinner will be served at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. 21st at Hamilton's. Members who bring guests are entitled to a free meal, but reservations for two must be made in advance to James E. Hadden, promotional director or secretary E. O. Sample by Tuesday morning.

Lloyd Lovelless, Supreme representative, will be the speaker. The annual Christmas party was held Dec. 13th and attended by 44 children. Santa was present with gifts and treats.

EXTENSION UNIT TO MEET MONDAY IN BROWN COUNTY

MT. STERLING — The Friendship Unit of Homemakers' Extension will meet with Mrs. Nadine Orr of Mt. Sterling at 7:30 p.m. Monday.

MT. Sterling Notes Mrs. Mae Cannon, of Mt. Sterling, accompanied her son, Joe, to his home for a visit during the Christmas holidays.

The Girl Scouts in Mt. Sterling, will go Christmas caroling Tuesday evening and will all meet at the Legion Hall at 6:30 p.m. Scouts of all ages will participate.

NOT SO CUDDLY — This kitty on display at the Paris Cat Show is not of the cuddly variety. It's a four-month-old snow panner from Brazil and even as a playful baby, it's treated with respect by handlers.

Flights

Maj. David R. Scott, Scott plans to be outside his spacecraft for a full 90-minute orbit on a 100-foot lifeline.

Astronaut Edward H. White II took a 22-minute space stroll in Gemini 4.

"There is much more we want to learn about EVA — extra-vehicular activity," Mathews said. "Just a single demonstration of EVA is not enough. We want to know how to use it."

Future Flights Here is the tentative plan for the Gemini flights after No. 8. All will be two or three-day missions.

Gemini 9: Astronauts Elliott S. See Jr. and Air Force Maj. Charles A. Bassett II will try to rendezvous with an Agena in an elliptical orbit rather than a circular path. They also are to try to rendezvous with the Agena left in space by Gemini 8, recovering an instrument pack left there by Scott. Bassett will test a new self-propelling backpack outside the spacecraft.

Gemini 10: A direct ascent rendezvous flight, during which the astronauts will try to dock with an Agena just 102 minutes after the Agena is launched. Extensive maneuvering planned with the backpack during a space walk.

Gemini 11: To practice a docking maneuver that the Apollo pilots will have to perform when launching themselves from the moon to rendezvous with their mother ship in lunar orbit, Agena will be used.

Gemini 12: To rehearse the docking maneuver the Apollo astronauts would have to make if they separated from their mother ship and then decided not to land on the moon after approaching the surface.

NASA plans to complete the Gemini flights by next fall and then move into initial earth-orbit flights with the three-man Apollo ship. The goal of a manned lunar landing is 1969, but could come as early as 1968 if there are no hitches.

astronauts making their first space trip. Schirra was promoted after an earlier space flight.

The new promotions, which will be sent to the Senate for confirmation next month, will boost James A. Lovell Jr. of Gemini 7 to the rank of Navy captain, Frank Borman of Gemini 7 to full colonel in the Air Force and Stafford to lieutenant colonel in the Air Force.

Bill D. Moyers, White House press secretary, said Johnson watched the re-entry and recovery of Gemini 7 on television, just as he had its launching 14 days ago. He said the President did not talk to the astronauts by phone after their return and had no plans to meet with them personally, either here or at Cape Kennedy, Fla.

LADIES OF GAR ENJOY PARTY

The Edward Gallagher Circle 122, Ladies of the GAR met last week at the home of Mrs. Mabel Donovan, 1006 West State Street, for the group's annual Christmas party and business session.

A bountiful dinner was enjoyed. Mrs. Ruth Robinson prepared the turkey. During business officers elected included this slate:

President, Rachel Massey; senior vice president, Josephine Leach; junior vice president, Mae McCurley; chaplain, Ruth Robinson; treasurer, Ione Thompson; secretary, Eula Bland.

Patriotic instructor, Elizabeth Tribble; registrar, Mollie McCurley; historian, Harriet Pate; conductor, Emma Self; assistant conductor, Flora Arendall; guard, Lula Ranson; assistant guard, Julia Rice; musician, Emma Self.

A short program was enjoyed and a gift exchange held.

Reither On Beardstown

BEARDSTOWN — Jack Westel, who has been employed as a salesman for the Beardstown Mills for a number of years, has resigned his position to take a selling job with the M & M company. He says he will be traveling about the same territory.

Ronald Gene Roegge, formerly of this city, has been promoted to manager of a Walgreen store in Kankakee and thus joins the ranks of an increasing number of former Beardstownians "going places" in business out of town. This includes Don Coil, a Kroger manager in Kewanee, and John Utter, a Kline store manager in Galesburg.

The Rev. Melton Englehardt, pastor of the First Lutheran church in Beardstown, was pictured in the Jacksonville Journal Dec. 12 with a group of ministers at a workshop for chaplains at the Passavant hospital in Jacksonville.

The death in Springfield Sunday of Dr. Buck B. Madison, 52, came as a shock to many of his patients in this city. He practiced at Schmitt Memorial hospital regularly and had an operation scheduled here Wednesday.

Raymond Mearsch bagged a large goose on a recent hunting trip at Cairo. He is the latest of a number of local hunters who have been successful in this sport this season.

Bill Richter, Sangamon Valley farmer, reports seeing thousands of geese fly over his farm in a majestic V Sunday morning.

Schedule Rites In Cass For St. Louis Youth

VIRGINIA — Funeral services for Mitchell Lee Fox, 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee V. Fox of St. Louis, will be held Tuesday at the Massie Funeral Home, Virginia.

The boy was found dead at his home in St. Louis at 3 p.m. Saturday. The cause of death has not yet been established.

He was born in Wichita, Kan. Oct. 20, 1953 and is survived by his parents, a sister, Michelle and a brother, Marshall, both at home; his grandparents, Mrs. Frederic Fox of Jacksonville and Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Lovekamp of Azenville.

His paternal grandfather, Loy L. Fox, preceded him in death. Services will be held at Peace Lutheran church in St. Louis at 6 p.m. Monday and will be followed with services at the Massie Funeral Home at 2 p.m. Tuesday. Burial will be in Walnut Ridge cemetery.

Social Security

A major stepup of preventive health-care programs for the poor, who now have about twice the illness of other members of society.

—More and better private health insurance programs, with emphasis on taking care of long-term illness and disability, paired with a system of "disincentives" such as cost-sharing by patients to discourage misuse of health insurance that could result in unnecessarily high rates.

—Areawide hospital planning for more efficient use of health services; available; efficiency committees made up of business and community leaders; and encouragement of large profit-making hospitals which can "serve as yardsticks" in appraising costs of nonprofit hospitals.

This is the second report by the task force in its comprehensive study of poverty. The first was "The Concept of Poverty," a discussion of poverty, its causes and results.

The task force is headed by Erwin D. Canham, editor in chief, the Christian Science Monitor. It includes 100 top business leaders and has brought in various experts to help with the study.

The study notes that minimum payments now are only $44 a month, where a study five years ago showed the average consumption spending for all retired urban families and single persons was $145 per month, suggesting that "there is every reason to believe that this average is higher today."

The report notes that 1.5 million persons 65 or older are not eligible for Social Security benefits, and says they should be brought into the program.

LIBRARY CHILDREN'S HOUR MT. STERLING — The Senior Girl Scouts of Mt. Sterling, have finished a reading program for small children from 1 to 2 p.m. each Saturday at the public library. However, the reading hour will continue indefinitely, with mothers and members of the P.T.A. reading each Saturday. It is hoped that the children will continue to attend each week, so that the class may continue. Girls or boys of any age may attend.

the reported intermediaries that Secretary of State Dean Rusk, in effect, sabotaged the peace probe by disclosing it.

But the department said Friday that its disclosure was prompted by publication in the St. Louis Post-Dispatch of a story about the peace feeler in which it was reported the North Vietnamese gesture had been rejected.

Later Friday Arthur J. Goldberg, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, told reporters the Post-Dispatch story was prompted by an American lawyer, Goldberg said the unidentified lawyer obtained his information from one of the two Italians, Prof. Giorgio La Pira, who reported they talked with North Vietnamese President Ho Chi Minh.

La Pira's associate, Prof. Mario Primicerio, said in Florence Saturday that Rusk "is to be blamed because he obviously wanted this mission to fail by disclosing in advance what had been done."

The White House statement was issued after a conference between President Johnson and Secretary of State Dean Rusk. Rusk went to the executive mansion from Andrews Air Force Base where he bade farewell to British Prime Minister Harold Wilson.

No Day Off An unusual number of State Department officials were working on this Saturday, but this was explained as being natural in this busy period of high-level talks with foreign leaders.

Pakistan President Mohammed Ayub Khan and Wilson were the visitors this week, and West German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard is arriving here Sunday.

British thinking on this latest reported peace feeler was explained shortly before Wilson's departure. It boils down to this: The Hanoi offer, if there was such a thing at all, contains obvious contradictions and followed a prior pattern of futility.

Britain, as cochairman of the Geneva conference of 1954 which ended the French war in Indochina, will sound out in the North Vietnamese capital what the Communists meant in their reported peace message through two Italians. The message was forwarded to President Johnson by Amintore Fanfani, Italy's foreign minister and president of the U.N. General Assembly this year.

Saukees Ice-Cold As JHS Wins Fourth

By BUFORD GREEN

Jacksonville capitalized on Pittsfield's ice-cold shooting Saturday night and recorded an easy 63-43 non-conference triumph over the Saukees, at the JHS Bowl.

The visiting Saukees simply could not hit from the field, as witnessed by their frigid 14% first-half average and their 24% clip for the entire game. A sizeable 39-21 edge on rebounds added to the landslide that went in the favor of the Crimsons after the latter section of the opening eight minutes.

The brightest performance by a Crimson was turned in by senior forward Gary Ginder. The 6-2 letterman turned in his best night of the year thus far, hitting on nine of his 14 shots from the field, mostly from outside 15 feet, in his 19-point evening.

Pittsfield managed just one field goal out of their ten shots in the first quarter, and only three of 21 tries from the field in the first half. The Saukees continued to hit hard luck in the second half, as the visitors managed to increase their percentage, but still connected on only 11 of 37 attempts in the half for 29%.

The win by Jacksonville was its fourth in five games, while Pittsfield suffered its second defeat in seven outings. For the game JHS shot a very respectable 45% from the field, on 27 of 58 attempts; 43% in the first half and an even 50% in the second. The Crimsons had their lowest turnover total of the season with 12. Pittsfield committed only nine field mistakes.

Jacks Break Early Jacksonville scored the first seven points of the game in a ragged first quarter. Pittsfield didn't get its field goal in the quarter until Tom Lacey connected with 2:16 left in the frame. Three points by Ron Coleman and two by Abe Brown shot the Crimsons into a 13-4 first-period bulge.

Ginder connected twice, from the baseline 15 feet away and from the top of the key, to open the second quarter, moving the Crimsons farther out of range. Ginder hit again after Pittsfield hit a free throw, and was followed by buckets by Robin Manker and Coleman with 4:56 left before halftime, boosting the lead to 23-5.

The lead got to 19 twice, as Ginder connected twice, from the baseline 15 feet away and from the top of the key, to open the second quarter, moving the Crimsons farther out of range. Porta Notches Tourney Win By 67-63 Edge

GREENVIEW — Porta front-courter Vernie Ames tallied 11 points in the fourth period of play here Saturday night as the Bluejays held on for a slim 67-63 count over host Greenview, in a consolation contest of the eight squad tourney held here.

Ames, who paced all scorers with 24, sparked the visitors late surge, which started midway through the final quarter after the locals had knotted the contest at 54-54.

Dave Gum recorded 19 for the victors who now stand 6-3 on the season. High point man for the now 3-4 Greenview squad was John Lyon.

MAC-IC RIVALRY ALWAYS A SHOW

For the money you can't beat a MacMurray-Illinois College basketball game. That is Jacksonville's answer to the Army-Navy football battle each year, and it always packs them in, whether the game is played at Mac or IC.

Last week's renewal of the six-year rivalry was no exception. For excitement, entertainment, basketball and a few laughs, there's nothing like it.

The fact that Illinois College has never beaten coach Bill Wall's Highlanders might indicate a one-sided affair, and from the won-loss record it is. But that's where it ends. A Mac roter would have considerable trouble convincing a Blueboy enthusiast that IC has no business on the same floor, especially this year.

There was very little difference in the overall talent of the two teams on the floor Thursday night when the Highlanders tipped IC 83-81. And, there was little difference in the desire shown by both. There were a lot of breaks, good and bad, in the game, and the last one or two simply went to MacMurray, and the Highlanders were right there to grab the opportunity.

In past years there has been little question to the superiority on the basketball floor of the MacMurray team. But, still, on very few occasions have the Highlanders had everything their own way. The usual-underdog Blueboys have always managed to throw up probably their best effort of the year against cross-town rival Mac.

Invariably, both teams hit hot streaks in their meetings and look like world-beaters. And, each year, the pressure at times gets to both teams and they look like prep junior varsities. This is due, more than anything else, to the intense rivalry.

The respective student bodies always get into the act in a big way. Their sideline banter and antics add to the spectacle.

Through the years this rivalry has had its rougher moments, and a few times many thought 'bad blood' might emerge for these, but all is soon forgotten, on the surface at least.

We feel this fierce rivalry is good. Competition, desire and spirit is the name of the game, and there's always plenty of all in a Mac-IC showdown.

Although it was virtually impossible to get a 'good draw' in the Carbondale Tournament, because of the strength of the 16-team field, Jacksonville might have gotten the better of the two brackets.

Should the Crimsons get by Olney they would meet the winner of the Marion-Alton contest which follows. Marion, rated second in the field behind defending state champion Collinsville, is an acknowledged state powerhouse, while Alton was JHS's first victim of the season.

Jacksonville, in the bottom bracket of eight teams, as a result, would not have to meet such teams as Collinsville, Wood River, Evanston, Decatur Eisenhower, who pinned on 87-66 defeat on the Crimsons Friday night, and West Frankfort.

Other teams in the bottom bracket are Carbondale, led by 6-9 junior Billy Perkins, Sparta, Canton and Harrisburg.

Jacksonville, defending champion, compiled the best offensive average in the four-game tournament last year, averaging 65.5 points a game, and was the best shooting team from the field, canning .479% of their shots.

Graduation last June claimed all but one of the boys named to the first two all-tournament teams for last year's Carbondale affair. Buddy Walton, 6-4 senior center this season for West Frankfort, was a second-team choice.

The cost of athletics has, indeed, risen. The total athletic budget for the University of Illinois for the school year 1964-65 has been discovered by Maynard Brichford, Universities archivist: Baseball suits, $7.95; to E. B. Latham, $5; washing eight baseball suits, $80; ball and bat, $1.50; travel to Lincoln, $1; host, $2.40; football repair, 20 cents; baseball bases, 55 cents. The total budget: $19.40.

HERE 'N' There: Three of the five unbeaten prep teams in the area suffered their first loss Friday night; Jacksonville, New Berlin and Virginia, leaving only Pleasant Hill and Camp Point with unblemished records.

The Illinois Valley Conference tournament, Dec. 28-30, originally scheduled for Greenfield, has been switched to North Greene High school in White Hall. The switch was due to Greenfield's new gym not being finished in time.

JHS will have their hands full Tuesday when the Crimsons take on Thornton of Harvey, rated second and third in the two press service polls last week. Thornton has a front line of 6-5, 6-3 and 6-8, all averaging well into double figures in both points and rebounds.

Carroll Cook is the sports information director at the University of Pittsburgh, but his interests travel beyond intercollegiate sports. He's not adverse to taking a few hard whacks at the sports world, as shown by his special Christmas book list for NEA recently. BEARNARTH MAY NOT RETURN CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—Larry Bearnarth, New York Mets pitcher playing in the Venezuelan Winter League, said Saturday he doubted he would return to this country after a Christmas vacation at home.

Bearnarth has been the center of controversy since Maury Allen, sports columnist for the New York Post, published a personal letter in which the young pitcher criticized Venezuelans, their way of life, speech and gullibility. The letter, in turn, was translated into Spanish and published in a Caracas paper.

Bob Sullivan, in the Midjet division, was the top winner for the locals, garnering two 5 firsts.

touchdowns. Amass 336 yards on 9 carries, 2 pass receptions for 89 yards, and 5 punt returns for 134 yards, setting a NFL record for net yardage in a single game.

Fans, teammates and foes alike, ran out of adjectives in praising Sayers.

"I'm not any Jimmy Brown, I can tell you that," said the former Omaha, Neb., high school star who lives in a South Side apartment with his wife, Linda.

"Brown does a lot of things I can't do. He is the most exciting football player I've ever seen. For one thing, I can improve my blocking. There are other things, too—a rookie has a lot of things he can't improve on."

As far as Bear fans are concerned, any further improvement would be just gliding the best football lily the 71-year-old Halas ever plucked in 45 years of nurturing pro football.

Gale became a whirlwind against the Minnesota Vikings, scoring four touchdowns in a 45-7 comeback triumph by the Bears. Sayers, who gained 297 yards on 21 runs, receptions and run-backs, returned a kickoff 96 yards with two minutes left, putting Chicago ahead 38-37.

After that, the Bears won seven of eight starts—losing only to Baltimore 25-21—mainly on the hit peak last Sunday.

The peak was reached for the 6-foot, 192-pound thunderbolt last Sunday with his performance in a 61-20 rout of the San Francisco 49ers.

A rain-splattered, Wrigley Field crowd of more than 46,000 saw Sayers:

Score six touchdowns, matching the NFL record and setting a NFL season record of 21

From the field, Meredosia fired 32% to their hosts 36%.

from age 18 and over. Prepare now for U. S. Civil Service job openings during the next 12 months.

Government positions pay high starting salaries. They provide much greater security than private employment and excellent opportunity for advancement. Many positions require little or no specialized education or experience.

But to get one of these jobs you must pass a test. The competition is keen and in some cases only one out of five passes.

Lincoln Service has helped thousands prepare for these tests every year since 1948. It is one of the largest and oldest privately owned schools of its kind and is not connected with the Government.

Capitol Records Case On Labor Violations Continued To Jan. 13

Two days of hearings on alleged labor law violations on the part of Capitol Records of Jacksonville went into recess Friday afternoon and will be concluded at 2 p.m., Thursday, January 13, 1966.

Ivar H. Peterson, trial examiner for the National Labor Relations Board, Washington, D.C., asked attorneys for both sides to have their witnesses ready when he returns to Jacksonville, Jan. 13, so that the hearings can be concluded on January 14th.

A parade of two dozen witnesses testified for one side or the other during the two days of hearings in the circuit court room last week. Some witnesses were called by both sides. All of the witnesses are either still employed or were employed at Capitol Records between June 1 and July 29, 1965.

Attorney Sheldon Rosenberg of Scranton, Pa., represents Capitol Records. Rosenberg is a specialist in labor law.

Alan Eisenberg, counsel for the General Counsel, U.S. Government, is trying to prove the alleged violations. Eisenberg is employed by the NLRB and has a branch office in Peoria. With Eisenberg is Kenneth W. Black of Chicago, an attorney for the International Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers. John A. Drennan of Springfield, a union organizer and business agent, was on hand Thursday and testified briefly that he circulated handbills to employees of Capitol while standing on public property near the entrance to the company's parking lot.

Close Election
A company-wide election held July 29 turned out to be a union defeat by a one-vote margin. The IAM lost 20 to 21. Currently, there is no union designated as a bargaining agent for employees at the plant.

Purported violations include: the company interrogated employees concerning union activities; that the company threatened employees if the union won the election; the employees were asked to report on fellow workers concerning union activity; that the company made threats of closing the plant if the union won; and several other technical violations.

Questions generally asked of the employees of the firm called to testify included: what conversations they had with any company official concerning the union election, the substance of the conversation and who mentioned the subject first.

The bulk of the testimony is routine and somewhat dry to inexperienced ears. Under terms of the Taft-Hartley Act, company officials (prior to the election July 29) were free to answer any and all questions asked by employees. Employees were supposed to seek out the company official and ask the first question concerning the union. Possible violations hinge upon whether company official approached the subject first.

Conversations between employees concerning union merits or activities is important as to where the conversation took place during a break, lunch period, parking lot, or off company premises.

Poor Memories
Most witnesses do not remember conversations held in June or July. Some, however, remember remote parts of a given conversation. One woman testified that she talked with Plant Manager Forrest Dyer concerning the forthcoming election.

ORGAN OVERHEATS
An overheated electric organ at the First Baptist church caused an alarm late Saturday afternoon. Firemen called to the scene in the 400 block of West State at 4:28 p.m., said the musical instrument had been played for about four hours, and apparently overheated.

To Prepare Baskets
Mrs. Mabel Harper has announced that baskets to be distributed to needy families will be prepared at 9 a.m. Tuesday at the American Legion Hall.

Baskets will be distributed December 22 and 23 by members of the Kiwanis club.

Anyone wishing to do so will be welcome to help wrap gifts and prepare the baskets.

Church Groups Meet
Dorcas Circle

The Dorcas Circle held a luncheon Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Muri Helliwell.

On the committee in charge were Mrs. Duane Clark, Mrs. Paul Garrison, Mrs. Leonard Plowman and Mrs. Russell Norman.

This group purchased food for needy families as a Christmas project.

The lesson was presented by Mrs. Amy Ruark. She was also in charge of the worship service.

Elizabeth Circle
The Elizabeth Circle met Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Don Cox, who was assisted by Mrs. Weldon Fearey.

The lesson was presented by Mrs. Charles Brown and the worship was in charge of Mrs. Hal McLaughlin.

The group has adopted three residents of the Illinois Christian Home in Jacksonville.

These ladies will be remembered at Christmas time and on other anniversaries and holidays as the circle's Christmas project.

Mary Martha Circle
The Mary Martha Circle met Wednesday evening at the home of Miss Nellie Roosa. Her assistants were Mrs. Mary Pennell and Mrs. Mabel Booz.

The lesson was in charge of Mrs. Muri Hardy and the worship was given by Mrs. Henry Corrie.

The circle gave individual gifts to children at the Christian Home in St. Louis as a Christmas project.

In Armed Services
The local Selective Service board reports that Gary James Whewell left by chartered bus on December 14 for induction.

Sammy Nichols Fund Continues

Little Folks Benefit

It's the little folks who benefit from purchases made through the Samuel Nichols Trust Fund, set aside in the will of the late Samuel W. Nichols.

The Farmers State Bank and Trust Company has watched over the fund for many years and annual contributions are still made to the principal from loyal fans.

Trust Officer Arthur J. Lauff said Saturday that the trust fund is now at about $12,000 and that the interest during the past several years has been adequate to pay for the treats distributed to children in Jacksonville ranging in age through grade school.

Terms of the trust fund restrict its use to the "needy children in the grade schools of Jacksonville and their little brothers and sisters at home." Jacksonville's Police Chief is charged with the responsibility of administering the treats distributed annually. Charles P. Runkel is no exception, every police chief in the city's history has handled the Christmas assignment with skill and dispatch.

School officials cooperate by listing the children who may be lacking in sufficient Christmas candy, nuts and fruit. The list is turned over to the police chief and all the merchandise is ordered.

Chief Runkel said Saturday that he will distribute about 360 sacks of merchandise next Friday. A large group of loyal workers have assisted with the assembling and distribution of the sacks in past years and are expected to be on hand for this year's activity.

The Nichols Fund, through the efforts of Jacksonville citizens, has survived a long series of ups and downs which included a bank failure, depression and period of low interest rates. The late Walter A. DeShara, associated with the Journal Courier, was instrumental in raising the trust fund to the $10,000 level so that interest would maintain the annual purchases. No formal campaign has been conducted for several years. Persons who wish to send funds to increase the principal are invited to send their contributions to The Farmers State Bank and Trust Company, Jacksonville, Ill.

This year's list of needy children is about 60 more than in previous years. The treats will include, candy, nuts, oranges and other Christmas sweets.

MARRIAGE LICENSES ISSUED FOR WEEK
Police cited a Springfield man Saturday following an accident at the West Chambers and South Fayette street intersection.

Ticketed was Carl J. Saladino Jr. of Springfield after his south bound car on Fayette struck a westbound auto on Chambers, driven by David G. Marshall of 1204 Grandview.

Saladino was cited for failure to yield the right-of-way.

Paul Johnson Again Heads Morgan Fair Association

Paul Johnson, of Route One Ashland, was re-elected president of the Morgan County Agricultural Fair Association at the organization meeting of the board of directors, following the annual shareholders meeting Wednesday night at Hamilton's Restaurant. Wayne Ginder, Route four, was elected first vice-president and Darrell Smith of the Sun Rahe Farms at Alexander was elected second vice-president.

Ten Installed
Ten directors, elected for a three year term, were installed during the shareholders meeting. They are Arthur J. French, Elbert Middleton, re-elected for a second three year term, Harold Hamel, Elmer Middendorf, Ray Samples, Byron Smith, Darrell Smith, I. H. Thompson, Charles Williamson and Clyde York. These directors will join 20 other directors in managing the affairs of the annual fair.

In his report to the shareholders, President Johnson reported that the number of exhibitors in the livestock division of the fair was within a few animals of the 1964 fair, that entries in the domestic arts and culinary departments were slightly greater. He also reported that the association paid out in premiums to prize winners in Division one, which includes livestock and domestic arts, a total of $10,288.75 and in Division two, including the horse show, western horses, tractor pull, horse racing and pony racing, a total of $9,568.

Building Added
Among the accomplishments during the past year, Mr. Johnson pointed out, was the insulating of the Community and 4-H building at a cost of about $1600, and the construction of the Agricultural Products and Merchant's Building at a cost of $15,500.

Secretary Ernest Savage, who along with treasurer Gilbert Todd was re-elected for another term gave a report of the financial condition of the association, showing a cash operating fund of about $9,000 and $2,600 in a special reserve fund.

Plan Improvements
Building projects under consideration for this year include an additional horse barn and another swine barn for use during the fair.

John Becker and his wife were in charge of arrangements for the meeting. Oyster soup and pie were served to the 60 persons who attended. Mr. Becker, Lawrence Mallicoate and J. Harry Dowland were members of the nominating committee which submitted the slate of officers.

Matt Jordan, Susie Miller and Laurel Martin provided a program of folk music prior to the business meeting.

Directors who retired from the board this year are John Gordon, Willard Jones, Donald Richardson, John Stewart, Chester Thomason and Amos Western. Mr. Stewart and Mr. Western were vice-presidents in addition to being directors.

Mrs. Charles Edwards

CARROLLTON — Miss Mary Helen Vandersand of Carrollton and Charles Edwards of White Hall were united in marriage December eleventh at St. John's Catholic church in White Hall. The Reverend Vincent T. Worland officiated at an altar banked with white flowers.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Vandersand and the groom is the son of Mrs. W. L. Edwards of White Hall and the late Mr. Edwards.

Miss Judy Pruemer of Mount Prospect, formerly of Carrollton, was soloist and Mrs. Lawrence Thien was at the organ.

The bride's sister, Joan, was her maid of honor. Mrs. William Shade and Mrs. Joseph Schelt, both of Carrollton, were bridesmaids.

Warren Fansler of White Hall was best man and Mark Steckel, White Hall and Truman Short of Roodhouse were groomsmen.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a floor length gown of ivory brocade with crystal beading at the neckline. A crystal headpiece held her veil of illusion and she carried a cascade of white roses and ivy.

The bride's attendants were gowned alike in shades of coral red with pink trim. They carried bouquets of pink roses with ivy.

A reception was held at the K of C. Hall. The newlyweds are making their home at 205 Westmoor Drive in White Hall.

The bride graduated from Carrollton High School and is employed at the Carrollton Bank. The groom graduated from White Hall High School and is employed by John J. Chumley, contractor at White Hall.

Past Matrons At Roodhouse Have Luncheon

ROODHOUSE—The Past Matrons Club of Roodhouse Chapter 571, OES, met at the home of Mrs. Eugene Kirgan, for a Christmas luncheon at 12:30 p.m. Wednesday, with the following hostesses: Mrs. Lee Battershell, Mrs. Ralph Strang, Mrs. William Wagner, Mrs. Maurice Harp and Mrs. Kirgan. Included among the 22 persons present were members, the new matron, Mrs. Murel Cumby and the new officers.

A devotional period was held and Mrs. Kirgan read Edwin Markham's "Our Rendezvous with Joy." A gift exchange was held during the social hour.

Reyschia Dawn Dugger

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Dugger announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Reyschia Dawn, to Thomas Barton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Barton of this city. The couple plans a late December wedding.

Miss Dugger attended Jacksonville High School and presently attends Flamingo Beauty College here. Mr. Barton graduated in 1965 from Jacksonville High School and is attending the Auto Diesel Mechanic College in Nashville, Tennessee.

Ashland Group At Newell Home

ASHLAND — The Ashland Junior Woman's Club met at the home of Mrs. Robert Newell on Saturday evening. Following the pledge to the flag and the club prayer, Mrs. Harold Jurgens gave a report on the District board meeting, and reminded members to continue saving stamps. A report on a recent ward party was given by Mrs. William Dodge. The club will contribute one-third of the cost of the children's Christmas treats again this year.

The annual Christmas party will be held at the Virginia Country Club Saturday with dinner to be served at 7:30 p.m.

Donations for Christmas baskets should be taken to the home of Mrs. Robert Thompson before Dec. 22nd. Each member will donate canned goods and fifty cents. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Robert Briggs Jan. 7.

Christmas Program
The primary and intermediate classes of the local Church of Christ presented their Christmas program during the worship hour Sunday evening.

Elect 4-H Officers
The Ashland Topnotchers met last Friday at the high school, with 31 members present.

Election of officers was held for the coming year as follows: President, Marilyn Fulton; vice-president, Marsha Yancy; secretary, Cynthia Evans; treasurer, Jane Elliott; reporter, Patricia Copley; Federation of officers, Janice Whisnant and Marilyn Clemons; recreation leaders, Janet Atwood and Kathy Pschirrir.

Mrs. Grojean Is Hostess For Rebecca Circle

Mrs. Earl Grojean was hostess Dec. 15 to members of Rebecca Circle of Grace Methodist Church. Mrs. Joe Grojean assisted and Mrs. Richard Lukeman poured during the social hour.

Plans were made for a Christmas visit to a local nursing home and a card signed by all members present will be sent to a missionary in India.

A discussion was held on how to stimulate interest and increase attendance in WSCS.

An inspiring program on Mary, Mother of Jesus, was given by Mrs. Lynden Heaton.

Thelma Simke, Missouri Man Exchange Vows

A candlelight ceremony Saturday afternoon, December eleventh, united in marriage Mrs. Thelma Simke of Jacksonville and George G. Robinson of McCredie, Missouri.

The service was performed by Dr. Frank Nestler at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence T. Oxley in this city. Only members of the immediate families attended.

The bride was charming in an aqua ensemble with matching color accessories.

Ilene Smock And Wayne Spencer Wed

ROODHOUSE—In ceremonies held at the Christian church, Dec. 5 at 2:00 p.m., Ilene Smock became the bride of Wayne Spencer. Rev. James Organ performed the double ring ceremony in the presence of members of the immediate families. The church was beautiful with palms, white daisies, mums and rosebuds.

Furnishing the nuptial music was Mrs. W. J. Rees at the organ.

The groom's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Walker, Pekin, attended the couple.

Given in marriage by her brother, Wm. G. Smock, the bride wore a white wool lace knit street length dress with shoulder length veil of illusion falling from a seed pearl crown. Her bouquet was of white mums and pink sweetheart roses.

Demo Women Have Christmas Dinner Meeting

Members of the Morgan County Democratic Woman's club met Dec. 14th at the Blackhawk for a holiday dinner meeting.

Following the dinner Mrs. Byron Smith conducted a short business session and then presented Mrs. Linda Braner who played accordion selections. Group singing and a gift exchange closed the meeting.

The club will meet next in January with Mrs. Dorothy VanWinkle of Franklin and Mrs. Elizabeth Doolin, Jacksonville, in charge of arrangements. The location for the meeting will be announced later.

Edge-Gross CWF Group Enjoys Coffee

Members of the Edge-Gross CWF Group, Central Christian church met at 9 a.m. Dec. 15th in Fellowship Hall at the church. Hostesses were Mrs. Elmer Crabtree and Mrs. Carl Christison. Coffee, tea and rolls were served from an attractive Christmas table.

Guests were Miss Ruby Crabtree, Linda Smith and Helen Morrison. A huge light tree lent much to the festive atmosphere and fellowship.

Mrs. Glenn Shinner gave devotions using the Christmas story. A red cloth with greenery and candles were used at the devotion center.

Miss Blanche Spall gave the lesson study, The Call to Light. She also used an article from National Business Women, The Ray of Light.

Good Eyebrow Grooming

Naked eyebrows—replaced by heavy-handed penciling of eyebrows—belong to another era. Your eyes, though, look their best when the eyebrows are cleaned of stray hairs and follow the natural arch. If your skin gets red and the tweezing hurts, apply a soothing petroleum jelly to the area before using tweezers. You may want to apply an antiseptic to the area after tweezing, and always use clean tweezers.

Gray is Fashionable
Gray will be a favorite color on the winter beach resort scene this season. Swimsuits are platinum, there are gray linen beach dresses trimmed in tating and both long- and short-sleeved gray voile shirts to be worn with terry shorts or the new pajama pants.

The next meeting will be Jan. 19th, the location to be given later.

Early Holiday Issue Deadline

A limited number of pictures and copy will be used in social pages Sunday, Dec. 26 and Jan. 2nd. Persons wishing releases in social pages should have copy at the office the Tuesday before the respective Sunday issue in which they wish releases to appear.

Colorful holiday decorations were lavishly used throughout the room in centerpieces and at the tables. Places were marked with aprons, made from napkins, and tied as gifts. Drawings were held and centerpieces were presented Mrs. Richard Thompson, Mrs. George Hargett, Mrs. Frances Marrell, Mrs. Harold Hooker, Mrs. Dan Sheat and Mrs. V. A. Rose. The large tree went to Mrs. Charles Nelson and a lovely pine cone wreath to Mrs. Charles Heacock.

Special guests introduced were Mrs. Frances Marrell, Denver, Colo., and Mrs. Pat Pilgrim of El Paso, Texas.

A lovely table held cookies, fruit cakes and candies which were served with punch later in the evening as members and guests enjoyed bridge.

Newcomers Club Has Annual Holiday Party

Members of the Welcome Wagon Newcomers club donated canned goods, clothing and other articles which will be given needy families in the area at Christmas. A donation was also voted for the JAARC during the business meeting conducted by the president, Mrs. Charles Musgrave, at the Dec. 7th meeting held at the Blackhawk.

First time guests introduced were Mrs. Terry Fry, Mrs. Weldon Fogal, Mrs. Joe Davis, Mrs. Angeles Santas, Mrs. LeRoy Gibson, Mrs. James Farrar, Mrs. John Graham, Mrs. Robert Simonds, Mrs. Frederick Withler, Mrs. James Wilson, Mrs. Ray Wright, Mrs. Paul Smith and Mrs. James Hiatt.

Following installation of new officers Mrs. Musgrave, retiring president, thanked her officers and board members for co-operation the past year and also Mrs. John Burch, Welcome Wagon hostess, for assistance.

Mrs. Ronald Cudney was thanked for hosting the Nov. 29th coffee in her home.

Members of the Edge-Gross CWF Group, Central Christian church met at 9 a.m. Dec. 15th in Fellowship Hall at the church. Hostesses were Mrs. Elmer Crabtree and Mrs. Carl Christison. Coffee, tea and rolls were served from an attractive Christmas table.

Guests were Miss Ruby Crabtree, Linda Smith and Helen Morrison. A huge light tree lent much to the festive atmosphere and fellowship.

Mrs. Glenn Shinner gave devotions using the Christmas story. A red cloth with greenery and candles were used at the devotion center.

Miss Blanche Spall gave the lesson study, The Call to Light. She also used an article from National Business Women, The Ray of Light.

Good Eyebrow Grooming

Naked eyebrows—replaced by heavy-handed penciling of eyebrows—belong to another era. Your eyes, though, look their best when the eyebrows are cleaned of stray hairs and follow the natural arch. If your skin gets red and the tweezing hurts, apply a soothing petroleum jelly to the area before using tweezers. You may want to apply an antiseptic to the area after tweezing, and always use clean tweezers.

Gray is Fashionable
Gray will be a favorite color on the winter beach resort scene this season. Swimsuits are platinum, there are gray linen beach dresses trimmed in tating and both long- and short-sleeved gray voile shirts to be worn with terry shorts or the new pajama pants.

The next meeting will be Jan. 19th, the location to be given later.

Early Holiday Issue Deadline

A limited number of pictures and copy will be used in social pages Sunday, Dec. 26 and Jan. 2nd. Persons wishing releases in social pages should have copy at the office the Tuesday before the respective Sunday issue in which they wish releases to appear.

Colorful holiday decorations were lavishly used throughout the room in centerpieces and at the tables. Places were marked with aprons, made from napkins, and tied as gifts. Drawings were held and centerpieces were presented Mrs. Richard Thompson, Mrs. George Hargett, Mrs. Frances Marrell, Mrs. Harold Hooker, Mrs. Dan Sheat and Mrs. V. A. Rose. The large tree went to Mrs. Charles Nelson and a lovely pine cone wreath to Mrs. Charles Heacock.

Special guests introduced were Mrs. Frances Marrell, Denver, Colo., and Mrs. Pat Pilgrim of El Paso, Texas.

A lovely table held cookies, fruit cakes and candies which were served with punch later in the evening as members and guests enjoyed bridge.

Newcomers Club Has Annual Holiday Party

Members of the Welcome Wagon Newcomers club donated canned goods, clothing and other articles which will be given needy families in the area at Christmas. A donation was also voted for the JAARC during the business meeting conducted by the president, Mrs. Charles Musgrave, at the Dec. 7th meeting held at the Blackhawk.

First time guests introduced were Mrs. Terry Fry, Mrs. Weldon Fogal, Mrs. Joe Davis, Mrs. Angeles Santas, Mrs. LeRoy Gibson, Mrs. James Farrar, Mrs. John Graham, Mrs. Robert Simonds, Mrs. Frederick Withler, Mrs. James Wilson, Mrs. Ray Wright, Mrs. Paul Smith and Mrs. James Hiatt.

Following installation of new officers Mrs. Musgrave, retiring president, thanked her officers and board members for co-operation the past year and also Mrs. John Burch, Welcome Wagon hostess, for assistance.

Mrs. Ronald Cudney was thanked for hosting the Nov. 29th coffee in her home.

Thelma Simke, Missouri Man Exchange Vows

A candlelight ceremony Saturday afternoon, December eleventh, united in marriage Mrs. Thelma Simke of Jacksonville and George G. Robinson of McCredie, Missouri.

The service was performed by Dr. Frank Nestler at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence T. Oxley in this city. Only members of the immediate families attended.

The bride was charming in an aqua ensemble with matching color accessories.

Ilene Smock And Wayne Spencer Wed

ROODHOUSE—In ceremonies held at the Christian church, Dec. 5 at 2:00 p.m., Ilene Smock became the bride of Wayne Spencer. Rev. James Organ performed the double ring ceremony in the presence of members of the immediate families. The church was beautiful with palms, white daisies, mums and rosebuds.

Furnishing the nuptial music was Mrs. W. J. Rees at the organ.

The groom's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Walker, Pekin, attended the couple.

Given in marriage by her brother, Wm. G. Smock, the bride wore a white wool lace knit street length dress with shoulder length veil of illusion falling from a seed pearl crown. Her bouquet was of white mums and pink sweetheart roses.

Demo Women Have Christmas Dinner Meeting

Members of the Morgan County Democratic Woman's club met Dec. 14th at the Blackhawk for a holiday dinner meeting.

Following the dinner Mrs. Byron Smith conducted a short business session and then presented Mrs. Linda Braner who played accordion selections. Group singing and a gift exchange closed the meeting.

The club will meet next in January with Mrs. Dorothy VanWinkle of Franklin and Mrs. Elizabeth Doolin, Jacksonville, in charge of arrangements. The location for the meeting will be announced later.

Those Tests On TV

One of the most interesting recent developments in commercial television is the series of "tests" produced by the Columbia Broadcasting System. The first test program related to driving ability, the next to citizenship. In each case, viewers were exhorted to check their knowledge in these fields. Now the network plans a third test program, this one on health.

The value of these offerings lies not so much in an actual assessment of knowledge and judgment as in the stimulation of thought on important subjects. The average viewer finds that he knows less than he figured he knew, and is moved to give the subject at hand some close attention.

That was useful so far as driving practices and citizenship were concerned. It will be equally so with regard to health and medical care. Here, as in the other two fields, there are common gaps in knowledge and understanding. The TV health test will not answer all the questions, but it probably will cause millions of viewers to think more clearly about a matter vital to their individual welfare.

Mood Of Consumers

Illustrations of old truths often come about in curious ways. For example, events set in motion by a typographical error in a New York City newspaper ad once again demonstrated that mob psychology is at best a nasty sort of thing.

A discount store mistakenly advertised a portable television set at $8.98. The figure was not preposterous enough to deter several hundred would-be purchasers, who stormed into the place at the opening hour and demanded action—at $8.98, though clerks told them it was a mistake and should have read "$88.98." One determined woman declared, "You advertised it, and you've got to sell it!"

That put the fat in the fire. The crowd became a pushing, shouting mass of humanity—something more and something less than a group of individuals. Police were needed to restore order, and in the end the store yielded to mob demands and sold 46 of the sets for $8.98.

It was milk tea-mild, as real mob scenes go. But it sharply illustrates the unpleasant fact that people carried away by mob psychology often will do things they would be ashamed or afraid to do as individuals.

Pride and Vanity

A little girl was asked to explain the difference between pride and vanity. After considerable thought, she replied: "Pride means, 'I don't think much of you'; vanity means 'What do you think of me?'"

Dear Ann:

Little Things That Break Up Marriages

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a man who has been married for 21 years. My mother always used to say, "It's the little things that break up marriages. People manage the big things somehow." She was so right.

My wife has a habit that drives me nuts. Whenever we go out for dinner she never orders salad or dessert. Her theme song is, "All I want is a small steak and a vegetable." The minute my salad comes she puts her fork in it—"just to taste the dressing." If I don't pitch in fast I don't get any.

With the dessert, it's the same story. She'll say, "Herman, it looks so good, I'll just take a sniggle." Then she moves in for half or more.

This has been going on for 25 years. She knows I hate it but she does it anyway. If you can think of a solution you are a genius.—D. PRIVED

Dear D: The experts tell us that the desire to eat off the plate of another person is a sign of genuine affection. So, consider it a compliment and pray for another 25 years.

Dear Ann Landers: What do you do with a boss who throws things? I don't mean in a fit of temper or anything like that. He just throws things because he is too lazy to walk a few steps.

I instead of carrying the telephone directory to the stand he will leave it 15 feet. Often it lands on the filing cabinet but usually it hits the floor. One day I am afraid he will fracture my skull. This is entirely possible as we live in Dallas and our phone books are large and heavy.

The boss also throws staplers, appointment pads and other unbreakable items.

Why does he throw things and is there any hope of curing him?

—CONSTANTLY DUCKING

Dear Duck: Your boss probably makes mind bets as to whether or not he's going to hit his target. Tell him you want to get in on the betting, too. If he hits you he owes you $20. (P.S. And no fair moving in the direction of the flying object.)

Dear Ann Landers: Next week our 19-year-old son enters the Air Force. To be truthful, I can hardly wait till the kid leaves.

The boy's father has never encouraged him to accomplish anything in school. He has always said "If you just get by, that's good enough, son. If you are too smart nobody will like you."

One thing the boy's father has encouraged is beer drinking. The two of them can sit down and put away eight steins apiece. They get loud and raucous but my husband insists they are not drunk because "beer is mild."

I hope and pray that the service will straighten our son out. Please print my letter. I'd like to put it in my husband's lunch pail.

—BESSIE

Dear Bessie: Please don't expect the Air Force to perform miracles. It can only work with the material it gets. I "have" known instances where young men came out of military service vastly improved, however. And it may happen to your boy, so don't give up hoping.

Your husband has done his son no favor by encouraging beer-guzzling. Some alcoholics drink nothing but beer. (P.S. I hope your husband enjoys his lunch today.)

up and down the central backbone of Cambodia, at points with easy road and water access into South Viet Nam and Thailand.

"One regiment, for example, could move quickly to Viet Cong War Zone D, just north of Saigon, where heavy B-52 raids have centered. Another was on a direct route to the VC Plain of Reeds base west of Saigon. Another was positioned to move into the big Ho coastal base at the southwest end of South Viet Nam.

"The mistake you Americans make is to think that this is a North Viet Nam-South Viet Nam war. He thinks of Indo-China—North and South Viet Nam, Cambodia and Laos—as one political—military unit. If he wants troops in the south, he doesn't have to move them from North Viet Nam. He can get them from any areas he controls in these four countries. The same for supplies. Why bring supplies in over a rough route from North Viet Nam, bombed all the way by U.S. planes? Why not bring them in over the short route from Cambodia?"

For 15 years, this man says, Ho's Cambodia-based units have recruited their men from the local North Vietnamese community, which now totals 500,000. Cambodian-born Vietnamese are called up at age 20, drilled locally. Selected men go to North Viet Nam for specialized training. For many years, the 325th Division at Do Luong in North Viet Nam acted as the training division for Cambodian unit officers. Replacements for regimental casualties come directly from Cambodia.

The prosperous North Vietnamese community in Cambodia, heavily entrenched in fishing and rural rice distribution, he says, is the "voluntary" tax and food supply base for Ho's occupation army.

This former Cambodia Front officer says: "I don't know the present location of Ho's Cambodian regiments. But some years back they were located in the hands of Prince Norodom Sihanouk. Sihanouk told me once he hates both North and South Vietnamese. But what can he do? Gen. Tay could defeat Sihanouk's army in a few days. Sihanouk knows this. Besides, he gets a commission for letting his country be used as a base and staging area for arms, equipment and supplies for Ho's army."

"My information is that weapons, ammunition and other military and medical supplies for the North Vietnamese troops come directly in by ship through a Cambodian port."

"A good many of these weapons and supplies come to Cambodia from Red China, the Soviet Union and Czechoslovakia. Considerable amounts of supplies, including medicine, come into a Cambodian port from France."

now that we all agree on the wickedness of my character, let us change the subject and have a cup of tea."

Do you know what constitutes the power of your brother to frighten you into accommodating him and his wife? Your own fear of your moral deficiencies.

If we are not afraid of knowing ourselves to be morally deficient, nobody can scare us by telling us we are. Knowing ourselves to be still resentful, still unforgiving toward our mother, learning that our brother knows it, too, doesn't hurt us at all. We see kindly forgiveness of mama's mistreatment of us as an ideal moral achievement toward which we can work, but we feel under no obligation to pretend to have achieved it as of now.

We know we have a long way to go before we can accomplish that spiritual insight of Jesus into the darknesses which motivate human cruelty and so understand them that He could immediately forgive tormentors. So we are not in the least ashamed that we haven't yet been able to forgive mother.

Settling for what we are, we say to brother: "Wherever did you get the notion that I think I am good and dutiful? You certainly didn't get it from me. I never told you I feel much more forgiving and think I'm wonderful. And now kindly toward her than I do, but I don't. I don't like her. And your tea?"

DEAR MRS. LAWRENCE: My brother and his wife whose home is three times the size of ours want me to take my mother to live with us. Ever since they sold her house to build this big home of theirs, she's lived with them in her personal suite. She and I have never gotten along because she knows I have never forgiven her for running around with other men. That killed my father. When I was a child she always belittled me because I wasn't pretty like her. I am so afraid that my brother and his wife will call me ungrateful if I don't take her.

ANSWER: Then you'll have to take her. So long as you're afraid of being ungrateful and bad, there's no alternative to taking her. You'll have to take her to prove that you're good, dutiful and abundantly virtuous.

Of course, if you didn't care about being bad and ungrateful, you'd have no problem. Happily accepting yourself as a still resentful, still unforgiving daughter, resistance to your brother's demand would be easy. You'd say to him, "No, bad girl that I am, I won't want to live with mama any more than she wants to live with me. It's awful of her, I know. I know I should feel much more forgiving and think I'm wonderful. And now kindly toward her than I do, but I don't. I don't like her. And your tea?"

Cambodia: Reds' Viet 'Feeder'

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The

major supply base for Ho Chi Minh's southern army may be Cambodia. The orders come from Hanoi. But they may go through a Lt. Gen. Nguyen Van Tay in Phnom Penh. Cambodian contacts say Tay commands Ho's "Cambodia-Laos Front."

A former high-ranking officer in this Cambodia-Laos Front who was later a trusted aide of President Diem on Viet Cong affairs informs me that under Tay's direction five regiments were organized in Cambodia in the late 1940s. He thinks they are still there and that five more have been added. He believes the North Vietnamese Cambodia Front now has a mainline force of 20,000 to 30,000.

"Control of Cambodia," he says, "is not in the hands of Prince Norodom Sihanouk. Sihanouk told me once he hates both North and South Vietnamese. But what can he do? Gen. Tay could defeat Sihanouk's army in a few days. Sihanouk knows this. When I was a child she always belittled me because I wasn't pretty like her. I am so afraid that my brother and his wife will call me ungrateful if I don't take her.

ANSWER: Then you'll have to take her. So long as you're afraid of being ungrateful and bad, there's no alternative to taking her. You'll have to take her to prove that you're good, dutiful and abundantly virtuous.

Of course, if you didn't care about being bad and ungrateful, you'd have no problem. Happily accepting yourself as a still resentful, still unforgiving daughter, resistance to your brother's demand would be easy. You'd say to him, "No, bad girl that I am, I won't want to live with mama any more than she wants to live with me. It's awful of her, I know. I know I should feel much more forgiving and think I'm wonderful. And now kindly toward her than I do, but I don't. I don't like her. And your tea?"

DEAR MRS. LAWRENCE: My brother and his wife whose home is three times the size of ours want me to take my mother to live with us. Ever since they sold her house to build this big home of theirs, she's lived with them in her personal suite. She and I have never gotten along because she knows I have never forgiven her for running around with other men. That killed my father. When I was a child she always belittled me because I wasn't pretty like her. I am so afraid that my brother and his wife will call me ungrateful if I don't take her.

It Wouldn't Be Christmas Unless—

By IAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—It wouldn't be Christmas unless someone said:
"I don't care what kind of toy it is—just so it doesn't make a noise."
"I hate Christmas—it always makes me sad."
"Who put the raisins in the egg nog?"
"I hate to buy him a present until I am sure he is going to give me one."
"Every Christmas Eve it's the same thing, year after year. You come reeling home from your office party at midnight reeking of liquor and with lipstick marks all over both cheeks."
"I wouldn't mind Christmas so much if someone would just invent a self-carving turkey."
"What color necktie would you suggest for my husband? He's short, fat, middle-aged and has a mole on his forehead."
"Why not get her perfume? No woman ever has enough perfume."

But if you know what size Elizabeth Taylor is, just double it. That should fit her okay."
"I sweated and strained over a hot stove for half the day making this oyster dressing—and now you tell me you don't want any."
"I hate to take down the tree. The room looks so empty without it. I do believe it's the prettiest tree we ever had!"
COINED WORD
Frederick Walton, British inventor, coined the word "linoleum" in the early 1860s, when he developed the floor covering from oxidized linseed oil, combined with rosin and cork flour.

WAVELY SOLDIER
7TH INFANTRY DIV., KOREA (AHTNC)—Army Pvt. Roger L. Eldridge, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oren M. Eldridge of Waverly, and other members of the 7th Infantry Division participated in Exercise FLYING TACKLE, a five-day field training exercise in Korea, which ended Dec. 11.
During the exercise Eldridge took part in defensive operations under simulated combat conditions. Eldridge practiced repelling attacking forces with small arms fire and grenades and continuing aggressive moves with armor and artillery units.

Eldridge, assigned as a switchboard operator in Headquarters Battery, 6th Battalion of the division's 80th Artillery, entered the Army in May 1965. He completed basic training at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo., and arrived overseas in November 1965.
The 21-year-old soldier is a 1962 graduate of Waverly High School and was employed by Allis Chalmers, Springfield, before entering the Army.

Dogs Brainwashed Into Obeying Chain's Clink

By DIAL TORGERSON

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A cat raced across the sidewalk in front of D'Ors Prince Ygor, Barbara Singleton's platinum-blond Russian wolfhound.

Ygor started to bolt after the cat. Miss Singleton, a pretty television model, clinked a chain in her hand and spoke: "Come, Ygor."

Ygor halted as if thunder-struck. "Heel!" said Miss Singleton. Ygor trotted obediently to her side and they walked on.

Ygor has never been to dog-training school. That's passe, these days, in the Beverly Hills-West Los Angeles environment of culturally enriched dogs. The secret of his instant obedience?

Like 300 other elite canines, Ygor has had psychotherapy. He was a patient of Dr. Dare Miller, who describes himself as Los Angeles' only dog psychologist.

"He is really so much better since he has had help," said Miss Singleton.

Dr. Miller treats dogs the way movie villains sometimes deal with captured counterespies: he brainwashes them, then shapes their will with conditioned response.

"In five minutes," said Dr. Miller, 38, "I can teach a strange dog to come to me on command."

Miller's methods differ from those of traditional dog trainers in their psychological approach: no punishment, no negative commands, and a conditioning technique on which he holds a copyright.

A chain — the sort Barbara Singleton clinked to halt her bolting Borzoi — does the trick. The chain is made of a special bronze-phosphorous alloy. Hanging on it is a tiny tuning fork.

Dr. Miller said: "The fork and the chain, when rattled, vibrate at 34,000 cycles per second, in the uppermost range of a dog's hearing. It doesn't hurt his ears; it just interrupts anything the dog is thinking."

"If the dog is going to do something bad, it changes his mind."

"If you give the dog a command simultaneously with the clink of the chain, the command is impressed in the dog's thinking, and on his memory."

The dog can eventually be taught to respond to the owner's word alone, without the chain."

The bitterroot is the state flower of Montana.

YESTERYEAR

From Frank Leslie's Illustrated Newspaper, December, 1865

Remember Ginsburgh, Or Weasel?

By heredity and environment I am naturally musically disinclined and wouldn't recognize a note of either high or low stature if I accidentally stumbled over one.

Remember Sammy Weller in the Pickwick Papers when somebody asked him if he could play a violin? Sammy honestly replied that he didn't know because he never tried. The same goes for me.

I can't sing either, never could. When in assembly and there is singing I go through the motions of vocalizing, but it's motions only — the way many noted TV personalities do. But thanks to electronics they call it "lip-synce." Which is truly a marvelous technique. Without it a lot of overpaid people would feel most tenderly toward their former employers for it would be back to the ribbon counter and the shipping department for them, leaving their agents bereft, high and dry.

Only once, some 15 years ago, I tried to sing. I was under pretty heavy libation at the time and joined with some merry comrades in the rendering of "My Wild Irish Rose." Reaction to my debut into song was somewhat mixed. It was unanimously agreed that so far as volume was concerned I was good. From there on there were two camps of critics. One group said I could sing through my nose as good as anybody in the world — pretty high praise, eh? — and that I ought to pack my grip and head for Nashville, Tenn., and team up with the Grand Old Opry troupe and sing "Bury Me Not in the Lone Prairie" and other cowpoke ballads. This group foresaw fame and fortune in my future.

The others, including a couple of shady characters who should not have been allowed in the joint in the first place, laughed and declared "Why, he couldn't carry a tune in a jug." This canard pricked my new found ego somewhat, but I later scouted around and learned they were fervent fans of some of the singers on the Grand Old Opry and I immediately saw that they were afraid I'd go to Nashville and knock one or more of their idols out of a job. But about this time the boss told me he couldn't raise my pay, but that I could by-line stories. That settled it; who would want to be a famous singer when he could be a newspaperman who wrote by-line material? So I didn't go to Nashville.

But I do like some musicians.

"Here They Come" — The greatest of them all was Barney King, slipshorn player on the clown band of the Sells-Floto circus. You always knew when the parade was coming your way, for you could hear Barney a mile away — even with the wind against him. He died in 1934, I believe.

And this month two other great musicians in my book took their leave of this globe — far beyond the stratosphere. Ralph Ginsburgh, 72, died in Chicago Dec. 9 and Hal Gilles, "The Weasel," 74, died in Santa Monica two days earlier.

They were artists, but about as different as day and night. But then, I like days and I like nights.

Trial Lasted And Lasted — Ginsburgh and his sweet violin moved into the Palmer House on a two-weeks' trial basis in 1925 and played there for 39 years, retiring in 1964. For years and years his splendid string quintet presented quiet, glorious luncheon and dinner music, which was picked up three or four times a day by Radio Station WGN. His music drew thousands and thousands to the dining rooms, and if he got any decent cut of the receipts his widow must be a very wealthy gal. In my home town if somebody went to Chicago and didn't go to the Palmer House — well, his trip wasn't so much.

The way I recall it WGN took Ginsburgh and his quintet away from another radio station simply because Col. McCormick of the Trib got sore and spent a wad of currency to buy the best microphones made at the time. They were known as carbon receivers, bigger around than a large dinner plate, and received very, very well-room chatter, dinnerware clatter, the music, everything. Later on selective microphones were moved in and some people complained when they could hear only the music, claiming that the noises made for a more homey, more realistic atmosphere.

But then there'll be complain-ers no matter how much things are improved. There are some folks who even knock The Great Society. They're pretty much the same ones who didn't think much of "Togetherness" and are now trying to stave off "Oneness." But the boys on Capitol Hill, those carefully chosen, dedicated experts who think of our well-being every

BUYING THE CHRISTMAS TURKEY

What recollections of our happy days hang about the preparations for the Christmas and the New Year!

What visions of making mince pies and the wondrous Christmas pudding!

What stoning of raisins? What chopping of apples and meat, and what chipping of citron? What making of paste and mixing of mince meat?

Ah, me! we shall never again see the return of those days of innocence, when our mothers and sisters, be they ever so high-born or aristocratic, went into the kitchen, on this season, and turned themselves and the whole house into one antimated bakery and culinary establishment.

Can we ever forget the millenium of cakes, the shower of doughnuts, when a free lunch was proclaimed to last at least two weeks? When the literal fat of the land ran loose over the whole house, and overflowed upon the neighbors! When our mouths ran a stream of water for seven days in advance at the prospect of the Christmas turkey.

Ah, those days will never come again. We are getting too genteel, and even the farmer's wife almost repudiates the idea of such menial employment as turkey stuffing and roasting, mince pie making and cruller cooking. We are upon an age of fashion and display, and we must hasten to record those kindly customs, for soon, alas, they will be no more for ever.

The fellow who wrote this for Frank Leslie's Illustrated Newspaper had a tear in his eye for "the good old days." How wrong he was!

Think of it, in those benighted times the good hausfrau had no scientific, no technical knowledge of nutrition. She didn't know what a calorie was and wouldn't have recognized a vitamin if she met one in a well-lighted alley, which they didn't have in the good old days.

Just to prove the point a very able home-maker, who takes home more money every week than her husband, has graciously given this column permission to print her Christmas menu, which meets modern requirements in the field of practical food science.

Fruit cocktail, a la Del Monte, about 125 calories.

Cream of tomato soup, roast turkey with Pepperridge Farm dressing and gravy, whipped potato buds and apple crisp, a la Swanson, on individual tray, about 540 calories.

Celery, carrot sticks, ungarished, about 30 calories.

Jellied cranberries, a la Ocean Spray, about 110 calories.

Hot hard roll, with 1/2 pat of the high price spread, about 143 calories.

Raspberry sherbert, a la Dean, about 118 calories.

Individual fruit tart, toasted, a la Nabisco, about 200 calories.

Coffee or tea, instant, 0 calories.

Heat up time — 30 minutes. Cleanup time — 6 minutes. Total caloric intake — about 1,268.

It's too bad she can't have as her guest the man who wrote for Leslie's paper a hundred years ago. Wouldn't he be amazed?

He'd have to eat his words.

DOMESTIC

December, 1865

The Mormons have just received a batch of recruits from Denmark. A Salt Lake paper says: "There isn't one of them, apparently, who might not as easily have been persuaded to emigrate to heathen lands, where heathenism prevails, as to this Mormon heritage, provided the same misrepresentations had been made to them by their proselyters. The arrival of these fair-haired girls created considerable commotion among the 'faithful.' A lot of old fogies, who had already six or seven forlorn wives, were seen examining the new-comers, most likely with the object of selecting one, in order to 'save her soul.'"

One night last week some of the Yale College Freshmen, while on a spree removed no less than 200 gates from their hinges. Some of them they smashed to pieces themselves, and others they threw upon the railroad track. Not satisfied with this, they destroyed other property, and might have done more damage still, had they not been arrested by the police.

A smuggling dodge upon the Canadian border has just been detected. An unusual number of coffins have been brought across the line of late for interment upon the American side. Last week the United States Revenue Officer insisted upon "seeing the corpse," after the coffin had landed, against the earnest protest of the stricken relatives. Instead of a defunct body, the coffin was found filled with costly silks.

Ex-President Buchanan has recently published a book in vindication of his administration. President Johnson has rescinded the order of Major-General Thomas, shutting up the Episcopal churches of Alabama until such time as they should be willing to repeat the prayer for the President of the United States.

From Fort Smith, Arkansas, it is reported that the Choctaw and Chickasaw Indians are badly persecuting their former slaves.

The postal money-order system has made no considerable progress, 419 offices having been opened during the year.

The House has concurred with the Senate arrangements for the eulogy of President Lincoln the 12th day of February next and a bill was passed appropriating $25,000 to Mrs. Lincoln.

The State Senate of Mississippi has passed a resolution repudiating all debts incurred by the State between the 9th day of January, 1861, and the 16th day of October, 1864.

The depredations of guerrillas, or rather highway robbers, as they certainly are, still continue in Tennessee. The town of Laverne was actually seized by these desperadoes, but was saved from complete pillage and destruction by the arrival of the military.

A citizen of New Orleans, recently from Matamoros, reports that the French officers consider a war between the United States and France, on account of the Mexican question, is imminent, and that the Rio Grande Valley will be the opening battle-ground. They profess to have already mapped out their first military operations.

December, 1865

One night recently, a man in Paris suffocated himself with charcoal, in a fit of remorse caused by seeing the play of "Thirty Years of a Gamester's Life," at the Ambigu Theatre. He had ruined his family by gambling.

A Polish colonization company has made arrangements with the Government of Brazil for a tract of land for a settlement of Poles in that country. There were 100 gallons of real turtle soup consumed at the Lord Mayor of London's recent dinner.

By a return just published the population of Paris consists of 1,796,141 persons. Messrs. Sampson Low & Co., of London, are about to adventure on a new monthly magazine, under the title of The Argosy, the first number of which will appear in December and will contain the first installment of a new tale by Mr. Charles Reid.

News, Views Century Ago

From the Jacksonville Journal:

A PICTURE FOR HARPER'S WEEKLY. A Scene On The Square Of Jacksonville — Yesterday we witnessed a scene on the Square that would make a sensational picture for Harper's Weekly. The furious Buffalo, donated by Dr. McFarland of the Insane Hospital, as a 4th of July present to the Soldiers' widows and orphans of this place, was brought out and led around the Square by thirty-two men, sixteen on each side, with ropes fastened around the animal's horns.

The buffalo was in fine order and quite spirited, and frequently attempted to charge upon the crowd of men and boys congregated to witness the sight. The procession was headed by Fentem's Silver Cornet band, and marched through the city to the slaughter house of Messrs. Lambert & Co., where the animal was killed and the meat to be sold, the proceeds to go to the Soldiers' widows and orphans of our city.

Mr. Woodman, who had charge of this affair, should he "let himself out," could rival P. T. Barnum in managing shows. We suggest to him that he have a sketch made of the City Square, together with Strawn's Hall, and some of the most prominent buildings — the Insane might be included — and the Buffalo struggling between the files of stalwart men who led him, and send it to Harper's Weekly. It would make a fine picture, and would take well.

PERSONAL — The Springfield JOURNAL says that Mr. J. D. Strong, Post Master of this city, has gone to Washington City, to act as Private Secretary to Senator Yates. Mr. Henry W. Hunt will have charge of the post office during Mr. Strong's absence.

A COTTON AND WOOLEN FACTORY FOR JACKSONVILLE — Messrs. M. P. & A. E. Ayers, Wm. T. Beekman, E. L. Greenleaf and Geo. McConnell, have organized a Home Manufacturing Company with a capital of sixty thousand dollars, intending to erect buildings the coming season and commence operations as soon as possible. This is a move in the right direction, and we trust other capitalists will follow suit, and supply our city with a full complement of Manufacturing Establishments.

SANTA CLAUS and his friends are respectfully invited to call at Stevenson's Drug Store and examine their fine assortment of toys and fancy goods. Prices fixed on declining gold prices. (ADV.)

From the Jacksonville Sentinel:

SHIPMENTS OF FAT STOCK — In consequence of the fall of prices in the New York market there have been comparatively few shipments from this point for the past two weeks, neither sellers nor shippers being willing to operate under the uncertainty of prices. We have only to record this week the shipments of 3 cars of hogs and 9 cars of cattle, both by Davis & Amos. Shippers are offering this week, for hogs, $7; for cattle, $6.

Jno. T. Alexander shipped last week at Alexander station 17 cars of cattle and at Dawson station 20 cars of cattle.

BEER DEPOT — We notice that Ricks & Maier, proprietors of the Jacksonville Brewery north of town, have opened a depot in the basement of the Hatfield block, for the wholesale of beer, by the whole, half or quarter barrel, for the accommodation of customers from the adjoining counties. These enterprising gentlemen have, during the past year, expended some ten thousand dollars in adding to their brewery buildings and cellars, and are now prepared to do a large business in their line.

WARREN'S COMPOUND CHEMICAL SOAP — We have been presented by Mr. J. Tucker, agent for the sale of the patent right for domestic manufacture of the above article, with specimens of shaving and washing soap, which we found to answer the purpose admirably. We have also used a liquid preparation of the above soap in washing our newspaper forms, which answers admirably.

It is claimed by the patentee that the soap, while answering the purpose of the best soaps in the market, is much cheaper. Mr. Tucker is selling family rights in this city for $5 each.

CHURCH BELL — We learn that a very large and fine toned bell, for Rev. L. M. Glover's new church, has been received, and will in a few days, be placed in the tower of the splendid new church edifice. We are also informed that the town clock that our authorities have purchased and authorized to be placed in the tower of the above named church edifice, will be here sometime this week.

Both bell and clock were installed in the tower of the church, which was proclaimed one of the most beautiful in the land. It stood in a lot given to the congregation by John J. Hardin, stretching from West State to West Morgan, from where Merrigan's stands today west to West street.

The church was completely destroyed by fire Sept. 26, 1883, and it is recorded that many people wept when the bell pealed its last notes as the tower crumbled and fell.

From the Carrollton Gazette: We learn of some cases where stock and poultry have been frozen to death during the past week. Persons who permit it should be "nipped" a little.

The ice that gorged in front of St. Louis on Saturday morning gave way and eight boats were sunk and thirteen very seriously injured.

MORE IMPROVEMENTS — David Dodson and Michael Carmody are both intending to erect buildings immediately west of the new depot for eating houses and store rooms.

A brace of young scamps claiming to hail from St. Louis and who give their names as Shepherd and Brown, passed a $50 counterfeit treasury note on Sleight's restaurant, on Saturday last, and made off with good money in exchange. They were followed to Whitehall by a party of young men from this place, where they were arrested and returned for quarters in the edifice with latticed windows.

December, 1865

When may a man's pocket be empty and yet have something in it? When it has a hole in it.

Why is a clock the most modest piece of furniture? Because it covers its face with its hands and runs down its own works.

In the Limerick paper an Irish gentleman, whose lady had absconded from him, thus cautions the public against trusting her: "My wife has eloped from me without rhyme or reason, and I desire no one to trust her on my account, for I am not married to her."

Why is matrimony like a be-seiged city? Because those who are in want to get out, and those that are out want to get in.

Why are corn and potatoes like the idols of old? Because the former has ears and hears not and the latter has eyes and sees not.

DYED — On Monday last, at Phalon's in this city, of a jet black, Mr. James Grizzlewig's whiskers, in the twenty-seventh year of their age, sincerely regretted by all who knew them.

Why is a drowned donkey like a horse-doctor? Because he's a wet-an'-hairly-un!

It is easy to say "Know thyself," but who is to introduce you?

TO PEOPLE DOWN IN THE WORLD — Try the new Hotels. They will give you a lift.

The following is said to be the private recipe of a Western editor — but we don't believe it: "Take one pint of whisky, stir it well with one spoonful of whisky; then add another pint of whisky—beat carefully and keep pouring in whisky. Fill a large bowl with water, but make sure to put it out of reach. Take a small tumbler, pour in two spoonfuls of water; pour out the water and fill up with whisky, and add to the above. Flavor with whisky to taste. Suggested dose: three fingers' every half hour."

—Harper's Weekly

EVERY HALF-HOUR — Ship bells ring every half-hour. This stems from old sailing days when helmsmen were changed at this interval and the bells were rung to call the new man to duty.

A Personal Letter

Dear folks:

At Cape Kennedy they won't dream of launching a rocket without a countdown. Why? If there's trouble they want to spot it before lift-off, not afterwards.

We think Yuletide would be a safer and happier time for motorists if they would take a tip from the folks at the Cape: Make sure things are A-OK before launching the car onto the street or highway.

Here is a "Driver's Countdown for Safety" developed by Auto Industries Highway Safety Committee to help you do just that. We're pleased to pass it along with our hearty best wishes for safe motoring this Christmas season . . . and all year long.

- 5 Car in safety shape — especially brakes, lights, steering, tires?
- 4 Enough time allowed to make the trip without rushing?
- 3 Driver set for possible weather and traffic conditions ahead?
- 2 Rest breaks mapped out along the way, if trip is long?
- 1 Seat belts fastened — snugly?
- 0 Take a deep, sober breath, relax, and drive for safety.

Merry Xmas and a Safe Happy New Year

Civilian Aides In S. Viet Face Difficult Tasks Daily

QUANG DUC PROVINCE, South Viet Nam (AP) — In the sunlit clearing between the drab rows of bamboo huts, a naked little hill boy played with a live bat on a string because he had no other toy.

A wild-eyed woman, frothing in a convulsion, crawled across the dusty street on all fours, moaning and shrieking like a wounded animal.

George Gaspard, the USOM — U.S. Operations Mission — representative in the province, watched the scene with growing desperation until the sing-song voices of children drew him to the little, low-roofed school house half hidden in a cluster of banana trees.

The children stood at their desks when he entered and bowed elaborately. He bade them go on with their song, which told how the good school boy was one who was well disciplined.

Cocktail Aid — Besides the rough wooden desks and the portable blackboard, which had been contributed by USOM, the classroom contained but one other piece of furniture: a framed color photograph of a dry martini on the teacher's desk, in the spot usually reserved in American schoolrooms for Gilbert Stuart's portrait of Washington, and bore the inscription: "With London so wet, how can Gilbert's be so dry?"

Thinking it was a picture of a glass of water, the Vietnamese teacher had clipped it from an old magazine to teach his Montagnard pupils the Vietnamese words for water, ice and glass. It was his only visual aid.

Think Big — "In Asia," said Gaspard, stepping into the strong sunlight, "there is no time left to think small. Everything here is on such a vast scale — vast population, vast poverty, vast political problems — you hardly know where to begin. Yet, each day you do begin again, as if every little bit really helped. But it's all so vast, it often makes you wonder."

As the USOM representative in the jungle province of Quang Duc, 150 miles northeast of Saigon, Gaspard advises the Vietnamese province chief on a variety of problems ranging from health, agriculture and education to building roads, schools, dams, bus stations, electrical plants, refugee villages, brick factories and new market places. He is the only American civilian in an area roughly the size of four large American counties. Meantime a team of 40 American military advisors, headed by a major, is helping government troops to keep the Viet Cong from seizing another lush, potentially prosperous province.

Native Industry — Gaspard, from Lee Hall, Va., works closely with the military advisory team. He had visited several Montagnard hamlets this particular morning to check on the pongoe stakes — sharpened bamboo foot traps — being turned out by the tribesmen on a contract basis, under a USOM self-help program, for the defense of other villages. For some of the hamlets involved, it was their first crack at private industry.

With 1,753 refugees moved in from other provinces and 1,290 Montagnards resettled from areas overrun by the Viet Cong, Quang Duc imports 13½ tons of rice a month, all of it by air. Salt, dry milk, bulgar wheat and some canned goods also are flown in; most of it from the $350 million in economic aid that the United States spends in Viet Nam every year.

Next Gaspard drove to the site of a new school dormitory, where a team of recently trained Montagnard craftsmen were manufacturing brick on tiny hand presses, for the new structure. The dormitory, a pet project of Lt. Col. Dang Huu Hong, the province chief, would enable children to come to the capital from remote jungle hamlets to learn to read and write.

Gaspard stopped off briefly at the U.S. military compound on the opposite side of town to see his friends, Maj. George Johnson of Milwaukee, the sector advisor, and put in an unusual request.

Birthday Party — "Tomorrow night," he said, "is the province chief's birthday. I'm having a little party and I'd like you and some of your officers to come. Do you think you could get your mess sergeant to whip up a little cake?"

The USOM representative's house overlooks a broad, green savanna that lies like an inviting carpet before the deep jungles. Rhade tribesmen with enormous holes in their earlobes were busy building a bamboo patio on the house, a low slung affair with a sheet metal roof. The living room had a dirt floor, an enormous stone fireplace, a table, a few chairs and what Gaspard called the necessities of civilization: a bookcase full of paperbacks and a glass cabinet with a martini shaker and the prescribed bottles.

"When the rain beats down on that roof, you can hardly hear yourself think," he said, slumping into a chair and putting his feet up on a hand-hewn coffee table.

The house, with its two tiny bedrooms, outdoor plumbing, oil drum shower and dark little kitchen, had been built by Gaspard's predecessor, who had nearly died of black water fever, malaria of the brain.

Superstitions — In the afternoon Gaspard drove to the agricultural training center, a clearing in the jungle where the Vietnamese government, with American help, is trying to woo the Montagnard away from a one-crop rice economy by teaching them how to raise pigs, chickens, vegetables, ducks, California fruit trees. But it is difficult to bring progress in a hurry to people who fire their rifles at an eclipse to keep the moon from swallowing the sun and who are afraid the fields will get mad if they harvest the rice with simple farm tools, as the Vietnamese do, instead of pulling it by hand.

That night, with a warm fire in the hearth burning off the evening chill and a cold martini clutched in his hand, Gaspard told something about himself. A one-time halfback on the Louisiana State University football team, "Speedy" Gaspard had been a platoon sergeant on Okinawa. When the Korean war broke out, he returned to service, went to officer candidate school, took both Ranger and paratroop training, and came out with both the Bronze and Silver stars.

Back in civilian life, he went into the Reserves and was recalled in 1960 and sent to Viet Nam, where he built the Special Forces camp at Dak Pek on the Laotian border and, with foot patrols over mile-high mountains, surveyed and mapped hundreds of miles of Communist-held territory.

In July of this year Gaspard returned to Viet Nam as a civilian, convinced that "this is not a straight military war any way that you look at it." But equally convinced that men with military background were needed to help the Vietnamese people solve their problems.

Gaspard is one of about 1,500 American civilians in Viet Nam. Some, like him, work directly with the province chief. Others advise the Vietnamese people on public health, pest control, fisheries, agriculture, communications, police methods, industrial development, education, vocational training, commerce, airport management and medical specialties.

Mr. and Mrs. Virgil W. Brannan

The golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil W. Brannan of Wrights will be celebrated on Sunday, December 26th. Open House will be held at the family home in Wrights from two to five o'clock in the afternoon. Friends and relatives are cordially invited.

The Brannans were married December 23, 1915 at the Morgan County Courthouse in Jacksonville with the Rev. John W. Priest officiating. They have resided in the Wrights community their entire married life, where Mr. Brannan served as highway commissioner for over 30 years. Mrs. Brannan is the former Goldia Worley, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm H. Worley and Mr. Brannan is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. James L. Brannan. They are parents of two children, a son, Loyal W. Brannan of Jacksonville and a daughter, Eileen Brannan Davis of Winchester, Indiana. There are four grandchildren.

Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Edwards

ROODHOUSE — Open house will be held Sunday, December 26th, honoring the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Edwards. Friends and relatives are cordially invited to call at the family home from two to four o'clock in the afternoon.

Lana Ford, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Perry Ford, and Emmett Edwards, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Edwards of Roodhouse, were married Dec. 24, 1915 at the home of Rev. W. R. Johnson. They have resided in Roodhouse since 1924.

They have one son, John Edwards of Houston, Texas. There are two granddaughters.

Mr. Edwards is a retired Roodhouse city employee. Mrs. Edwards retired in 1963 from the Roodhouse Envelope Company.

Religious Art Topic Before Tuesday Club

Mrs. Chester Colton entertained members of Tuesday Club at its annual Christmas party December 14th. Twenty-three members and one guest were present.

Refreshments were served from a beautifully decorated table with Mrs. Charles Gibson presiding.

Mrs. Samuel Darley, president, conducted the short business session during which the secretary's report and correspondence was read by Mrs. Harold Patterson.

Mrs. Leon Stewart, program chairman, presented Mrs. L. P. Hauck, who presented the program, Christmas in Art. Christmas Art has connections between the world of fact in which we move and the spiritual world that gives it meaning. It is the spiritual values that give significance to a great work of art, Mrs. Hauck related.

The speaker displayed five pictures of religious scenes and told background facts of each.

Eyes Need Relaxation

Eyes need a relaxing change. Anyone who relies on his eyesight to catch accounting or secretarial mistakes owes his eyes time off. A few minutes each hour during the working day, look up from the desk and focus on a distant object. Also use soothing eye drops occasionally to clear the eyes of foreign particles.

Mr. and Mrs. Amos Vieira

A Jacksonville couple, Mr. and Mrs. Amos Vieira, 979 East College avenue, marked their 44th wedding anniversary on Oct. 25th. Mr. and Mrs. Vieira have spent their entire married life in Jacksonville. He is self employed in the floor covering business. Miss Theolina L. Fernandes and Amos Vieira were married Oct. 25, 1921 in Springfield. They are parents of two daughters, Freida, wife of William Barber of Springfield and Nadine, wife of Joe Poe of Jacksonville. There are three grandchildren.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hammon

WINCHESTER — The golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. William Hammon will be celebrated Sunday, December 26th. Friends and relatives are cordially invited to call from one-thirty to five o'clock in the afternoon at the local Legion Post Home, as no invitations are being mailed.

Ethel Franklin, daughter of the late Schylor and Emma Northcutt Franklin of Scott county and William Hammon, son of the late Frank and Alice Jackson Hammon were married at Patterson by James McCabe.

They resided in the Winchester area during this fifty year period where Mr. Hammon farmed and was superintendent of the county road maintenance, retiring in 1961.

Both are members of the Glasgow Christian church. They are parents of three sons, Rev. Wayne Hammon, Mercedosa; William Hammon, Jr., of Danville and Jack F. Hammon, Alton. There are eight granddaughters and two great grandchildren.

Wed 25 Years

Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Short

A Jacksonville area couple, Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Short celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary Oct. 25th. Open house was held at their daughter's home, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Cogswell, Jacksonville route five.

Mrs. Short is the former June Morris. Mr. and Mrs. Short have two children, Keith at home and Karen, wife of Dan Cogswell. There is one granddaughter, Sharen Cogswell. The Shorts have lived in their present home the past 20 years. Mr. Short farms.

Discuss Smoking Hazards

FRANKLIN — The hazards of smoking will be discussed when the Franklin PTA meets at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, Jan. 20. Above, school principal L. E. Laugham, Mrs. Billie Oxley, center, PTA public education chairman, and Mrs. Don Johnson, PTA president, discuss a comic book, Where There's Smoke, published by the American Cancer Society. The booklet which warns of the dangers of smoking was distributed to all students.

Ho Claims U.S. Leaves North Viet No Choice

EDITOR'S NOTE — Recently two British correspondents obtained visas to North Viet Nam and one of them, Felix Greene, interviewed Ho Chi Minh. It took place Nov. 24, and Ho's inflexible terms as voiced then seem to cast doubt on so-called peace feelers reported by the State Department as having taken place Nov. 11.

This was Greene's first visit to North Viet Nam although he has been to Red China four times and has written two books favorable to that country, as well as making films. He is one of the few Western journalists allowed into China.

Greene describes himself as an independent liberal not associated with any political movement. A cousin of novelist Graham Greene, he is 56 and works as a lecturer and writer. He was born in Britain but has spent much of the last 25 years in the United States. He and his American wife live in Palo Alto, Calif.

The story following is presented for the information it contains and in light of the fact that U.S. correspondents are barred from North Viet Nam.

By FELIX GREENE
Distributed by The Associated Press

LONDON (AP) — "They say that we want this to go on," said Ho Chi Minh. "How can they say that?"

"You have been to the countryside. You have seen the suffering that the bombing is causing our people. Why would anyone want this hideous war to continue?"

The president of North Viet Nam made a small gesture that seemed to convey both pain and determination.

"They give us no alternative but to go on. We will never give up our independence."

Ho Chi Minh told me this and much else during a 2½-hour interview in Hanoi, the first interview of this kind he has given to a Western correspondent for a long time.

It was shortly before 8 a.m. when my wife and I arrived at the presidential palace, built many years ago by the French as a governor-general's residence.

Part of my interview was to be filmed, so I spent a few minutes arranging cameras and microphones in the large salon. I looked up to see Ho Chi Minh come in rather casually, as if he were merely wandering in to see what was going on.

Sitting on a settee sipping coffee, I could study him closely. He is 73 and his form is slight. His hands, as he held his cup, delicately, were finely kept. His thinning hair and his wispy white beard gave him the look of a Chinese ivory carving.

Dismisses Offer

President Johnson's offer of "unconditional discussions" he dismissed as insincere.

What Johnson was really after was the continuation of American control of South Viet Nam, he said, adding: "In essence, President Johnson's so-called offer of unconditional discussions means that the Vietnamese people must accept U.S. conditions. These are: U.S. imperialism will cling to South Viet Nam, the Viet Cong political arm—as the sole genuine representative of the people of South Viet Nam.

"The Vietnamese people eagerly want peace to build up their country, but genuine independence must be achieved if there is to be real peace. The question is very clear: U.S. imperialism must stop its air attacks on the North, put an end to its aggression in the South, withdraw its troops from South Viet Nam and let the Vietnamese people settle their own affairs."

Ho went on: "The truth is that President Johnson wants neither peace nor peace negotiations. As a matter of fact, at the very moment when he talks a lot about peace discussions, the U.S. imperialists are expanding further the war of aggression in South Viet Nam."

He said the American President's offer of discussions was intended to make it appear that the Vietnamese—and not the United States—want a continuation of the war. But Ho Chi Minh said he did not think the people of the world believed this.

Calls Attacks Savage

He spoke bitterly of America's "savage air attacks on the territory of an independent and sovereign state. By so doing the United States has grossly trampled underfoot international law, most seriously isolated the 1954 Geneva agreements on Viet Nam and flouted humanity and justice."

He ridiculed the contention that the North was guilty of aggression against the South.

"Viet Nam is one," he repeated with emphasis. "The Vietnamese people are one, children of the same fatherland."

To contend that the Southern part was a "neighbor country" was as absurd as to say that America's Southern states constitute a country separate from the Northern states, he said.

I asked how much aid he was sending to the South—and about the North Viet Nam forces that the United States claimed to have identified in the South.

His answer was ambiguous. He said the United States was fabricating false evidence as a way to "cover up their aggression."

Denies Running VC

By implication he denied that North Viet Nam is controlling the Viet Cong—as often charged by the U.S. government—and which is, indeed, one of the reasons why North Viet Nam is being bombed.

"The present struggle in South Viet Nam," Ho said, "is being waged by the people and liberation forces of South Viet Nam under the leadership of the National Front of Liberation."

He went on to say: "Our people in the North are bound to extend wholehearted support to the patriotic struggle waged by the people of the South against U.S. aggression, just as the South would help the North."

The nature and amount of help extended to forces in the South he did not disclose.

In recent months there have been many rumors in the Western press about Ho Chi Minh—that he was ill or senile.

I could detect no sign of senility. It is possible that he is delegating an increasing amount of work to the prime minister, Pham Van Dong, and others. But talking with Ho I gained the impression that he is still the unquestioned leader of his country.

Rejects U.S. Idea

In discussing his relations with China, Ho rejected U.S. statements that South Viet Nam would "fall under the influence of China." And that if the United States withdraws, Viet Nam would lose independence of action.

He also denied that Viet Nam would be ready to come to the conference table if it were not for "pressure from China."

He said: "The Vietnamese people and the Chinese people have fraternal relations as close as the relations between lips and teeth. China's sympathy, support and assistance to Viet Nam are most valuable and effective. China, like the Soviet Union and other Socialist countries, fully agrees with the line of struggle of the DRV—North Viet Nam—government and the NLFV. All U.S. attempts to divide Viet Nam and China and to divide the Socialist countries are doomed to failure."

My questions showed, he said, how little people in the West understand the relationship of Socialist countries.

"The Vietnamese people are strong because of their just cause," he added, "and because they enjoy the support of all peace-loving peoples in the world—including the American people."

"It is because of their love of justice and humanity that many progressive Americans from all walks of life—youths, students, professors, scientists, lawyers, writers, artists, clergymen and working people—have courageously raised their voices and staged huge demonstrations against the Johnson policy of aggression in Viet Nam."

Thanks Protestors

Ho said he wanted to thank "those Americans who are fighting for the cessation of American aggression in Viet Nam."

With the cameras stilled and the floodlights extinguished, Ho Chi Minh relaxed. To make sure we were not still being recorded, he pushed the microphone away and said: "Let us now talk privately—and informally."

For an hour or so we discussed many points in a free-ranging conversation. Some of this—it was understood—was off the record, but on general matters of policy I think I can quote him.

I mentioned an old Chinese saying—"Always leave a door open through which your enemy can escape."

"I know," he said, "it's the old question of saving America's face. But you know, the door is quite open. They can leave at any time. Once they decide to go, we will do all we can to help them. We will even lay out the red carpet."

I questioned him about various efforts by neutral, or so-called neutral, countries to find a way to end the war.

"U. S. Is Aggressor"

On this Ho was precise and clear, saying: "We cannot consider any intervention by anyone unless they accept an absolute clear distinction between the aggressor—the United States—and the victim of aggression, ourselves. How could we do otherwise?"

And then: "Would the United States ever agree to hold 'discussions' with a country that was bombing its cities?"

He brought up the names of Norman Morrison and others who he said had as a sacrificial act set fire to themselves in protest against U.S. acts.

(Morrison, of Baltimore, Md., poured an inflammable liquid over himself and lit it as he stood in front of the Pentagon in Washington last month. He died later of burns.)

"We would not encourage these acts but for us they have a high symbolic significance," Ho observed.

He went on to say he considered these people as heroes who represent the true spirit of America, the America of Washington and Lincoln.

From president to the most simple peasant in his grass-roofed hut, the North Vietnamese I talked with seemed utterly certain that in the end they will beat the United States.

This confidence is the most striking single impression I had.

Views Destruction

The bombing of North Viet Nam has been far more widespread, far more intense, far more destructive than I had expected. To see this, I traveled several hundreds miles south of Hanoi.

Travel takes place only at night. During the day highways and lanes are deserted, for anything that moves is likely to be strafed. Even ox-carts travel from village to village only by night.

Day and night have been reversed. In the country towns the stores open at night.

Bridges, roads, railroad stations are liable to attack at any time. And inevitably, perhaps, schools, hospitals and apartment houses and kindergartens have been smashed as well.

Sometimes the targets seem quite trivial.

I remember a small bridge across a stream along a country road in Thanh Hoa Province. Around the bridge were a dozen bomb craters.

Many bombs and much ammunition had been expended to knock out a bridge that the local people rebuilt in a couple of nights.

Holy Cross Auxiliary's Holiday Gift Tea

A festive crowd attended the annual holiday Gift Tea December second, sponsored by Holy Cross Hospital Auxiliary and held at the J. D. Klump home in Duncan Park.

At the conclusion of the social event announcement was made of the recipient of the colored television, a money making project of the organization for which donations had been received. Mrs. Suzanne Rowe, 650 South Prairie street, won the handsome set. Mrs. Rowe is pictured at top left (seated). Standing is Mrs. Verne Bergschneider, president of the Auxiliary and Sister M. Nazaria, Hospital Administrator.

Mrs. Arthur J. French was much interested in the lovely hothouse orchids offered by Mrs. J. J. Sturm, who makes a hobby of raising the delicate blossoms. They are pictured at lower left.

At the close of the afternoon a lovely handmade shawl, donated by Mrs. Byron Holkenbrink was awarded to Margaret Gartzell of Alexander.

OUR BOARDING HOUSE With MAJOR HOOPLE

Don't be a dishwasher... BUY ONE!

The thought of washing 4,000 dishes, glasses and silverware a month might give any housewife bad dreams. Yet, that's the chore the average home-maker faces.

(And isn't it surprising, how little volunteer help she gets?)

A dishwasher saves hours of drudgery.

It keeps hands out of hot water—and gets dishes not just clean but sanitized.

Have a look at the new portable dishwashers at your appliance dealer's showroom. They need no installation and they're priced within your budget. Buy your family a dishwasher... and get rid of those dishwashing nightmares. Pleasant dreams!

Fewer Illinois Farms Grow More, Better Food Year After Year

An analyses of the assessors' 1964 Annual State Farm Census has been released by the Illinois Department of Agriculture, Division of Agricultural Statistics, according to Robert M. Schneider, department director.

Schneider said the report, prepared by statisticians of the department's State-Federal Illinois Crop Reporting Service, is one of the most complete and detailed published in several years. Devoted primarily to analyses of crops and livestock according to size of farms and production, the publication includes graphs and tables.

A summation of the report follows:

Crop production on Illinois farms has increased roughly two-fifths in little more than a decade, yet Illinois farm numbers declined from 203,000 in 1950 to 144,000 in 1964. The increased output per farm unit and per man have come about through rapid changes in farm technology and increasing specialization. Larger farming units have taken on greater importance.

Today, one-third of the state's farms account for about two-thirds of its production.

Cash receipts from farm marketing totaled more than $2 billion in 1964. About 84 per cent of Illinois' land area, valued at over $10 billion, is used for farming. The Prairie State has six of the 10 leading corn counties in the nation, five of the 10 leading soybean counties and two of the 10 leading hog counties.

The nation's leading export state, Illinois ranks first in soybean production, providing one-fourth of the nation's supply. It annually ranks either first or second in corn production, third in the nation's total crop sales, fifth in production of wheat and third in popcorn. The state ranks second in the production of hogs, third in sales of all livestock and fourth in the marketing of grain fed cattle. Of the 3.9 million persons in the state's total labor force, slightly less than five per cent is involved in agriculture.

Morgan County Corn School Dates Set

Farm Adviser George Trull returned from Urbana Friday where he and 66 other farm advisers from other Illinois counties consulted with U.I. College of Agriculture specialists in charting two-day schools on corn production.

The Morgan county school will be held at Farm Bureau hall Tuesday, Jan. 4, and Tuesday, Jan. 11, with both morning and afternoon sessions.

In commenting on the corn school Trull said, "Corn yields are one of the most important factors in determining a farmer's profit for the year. I believe that every Morgan county farmer who grows corn will find it to his advantage to spend two days this winter to help him get top yields next fall."

Anybody in the county who raises corn is eligible to attend the school. There will be a small charge for materials used in the course.

Topics to be discussed during the two-day school include soil tests, seed bed preparation, fertilizers, rotations, soil and water management, weed control, insect control, plant populations, choosing the correct seed for the soil type and fertility, row widths and "facts and fancies about planting dates."

Specialists from the agronomy department of the College of Agriculture and from the regional office in Macomb will assist Trull in the conduct of the school.

All persons interested are invited to phone or go to the Extension office in the Farm Bureau building.

Saturday is Christmas. This is a truly special time of year — a time for giving. No matter who or where you are there is always someone out as well off as you. No matter who or where you are there is something you can give. We know that Christ gave of Himself all the time He was on earth. "Truly, it is more blessed to give than to receive."

Take time during this week to visit — to do something for someone less fortunate than you. Make a special effort to help children and young people understand the teaching of Christ. If more knew and lived by His teaching we would not have the strife that is in our country and the world today.

Be a gracious, appreciative receiver. Acknowledge gifts in a sincere way, realizing that the giver made an effort to give.

Now you should . . .
... Wrap presents.
... Look for signs of snow.
... Read Luke 2:1-20.
... Keep water on your Christmas tree.

Be careful with candles. Hang up the stockings. Take time to sit down with the children for a session about Christmas. Read "Twelve the Night Before Christmas" and be sure to read Luke 2:1-20. Have you checked your enterprisers for efficiency? Some statistics in hog production that you should determine: Pigs farrowed per litter. Pigs weaned per litter. Returns per $100 of feed fed. For The Goodwill Tree

Five years ago a member of the Morgan County 4-H Federation asked, "Why do we always have a gift exchange at our Christmas party? Why should we give each other a present? I think it would be better if we all brought something for poorer folks and let the Goodwill Tree people distribute them."

The idea was approved by unanimous vote, and that's the way it's been done ever since. The Federation is composed of two members from each of the agriculture and home economics clubs in the county. They are a pretty talented and spirited bunch of youngsters.

The annual Christmas party was held Wednesday evening at Farm Bureau Hall and more than 30 gifts were brought for the tree. Thursday afternoon they were delivered by, from left, Miss Carolyn Calvert, extension leader for home economics clubs; Phyllis Marshall of the Peppy Peppers, Mary Hemmings of the Peppy Peppers and Patty Smith of the Woodson Willing Workers.

At this year's party a pine tree was trimmed with homemade decorations. The tree was taken from the evergreen plantation located just south of the swimming area in the Western Illinois 4-H camp. This particular tree had been picked out by Extension Forester Bill Buckley as one to be taken out during the year as the plantation must be thinned to allow superior trees to make better, more shapely growth.

After several games, refreshments of cake and punch were served and this was followed by dancing.

Chaperones for the evening were Home Adviser Frances Webb, Miss Calvert and Assistant Farm Adviser Ralph Romig.

Those in charge of arrangements for the evening were Patty Smith, chairman; Mary Hemmings; David Bergschneider, Alexander Boys; Vernie Thomas, Arcadia Aces, and Kenny Zachary, Alexander Boys.

Winter Short Course Will Begin Jan. 31

The Winter Short Course in Agriculture at the University of Illinois College of Agriculture has been scheduled for January 31 through March 11, 1966. This annual six-week short course is planned to give young farmers who cannot regularly attend college a chance to learn the latest in farming ideas and methods.

Warren Wessels, short course supervisor, says that young farmers who attend the short course can choose from among 22 different courses in the areas of agricultural economics, agricultural engineering, agronomy, animal science, dairy science, horticulture and veterinary medicine.

All short course instructors are professors in the College of Agriculture, prominent in their fields of study and up to date on the latest research findings. According to Wessels, the annual attendance of nearly 150 Illinois farmers indicates the high importance they place on learning more advanced mechanical skills and technical knowledge in order to keep up with the rapid changes taking place in today's agriculture. Attending short course gives them a chance to add to their high school knowledge and practical farm experience.

Short course students are enrolled as regular members of the College of Agriculture and are eligible to attend University of Illinois athletic events, dances, concerts and other activities the same as any other regularly enrolled student. Cost of the short course will range from $25 to $300, depending upon the courses and the housing accommodations the student selects.

Wessels urges all prospective students to check with their local banks about possible scholarships. The Illinois Bankers' Association encourages its member banks to award such scholarships to selected students living in their trade areas.

Last year 40 member banks and county federations awarded 47 scholarships.

The Illinois FFA Foundation also is offering twenty $50 scholarships to active FFA members who can meet short course requirements. Ages of short course students in the past have ranged from 18 to 65 years, but most students are between 18 and 23 years. For further information, write to Warren Wessels, Short Course Supervisor, 104 Mumford Hall, College of Agriculture, Urbana, Ill.

Sheep Got Scabies? Collect $50 Reward

A reward of $50 will go to the first person to furnish information leading to the definite diagnosis of scabies in an Illinois sheep flock this winter. The one exception to the no-dipping requirement is directed to commission sales that received sheep from Iowa. Such sales are required to adhere to the dipping regulation since more outbreaks of sheep scabies were reported in Iowa last year than in the rest of the United States.

Dr. Doby said that in order to maintain Illinois' scabies-free status, one-third of the total number of sheep in the state will be inspected this winter. The majority of sheep inspected will be those raised in counties bordering on the state of Iowa.

LEGION AUXILIARY PARTY IN MEREDOSIA MONDAY MEREDOSIA — The Meredosia American Legion and Auxiliary Christmas party is scheduled at 6:30 p.m. Monday at the Legion hall. A turkey dinner will be followed by games with prizes for the winners. The children will receive a treat from Santa.

Pork Producers Meet Jan. 8 In Pekin

Headed by the Illinois Pork Queen, Miss Kathy Wright of Murrayville, a large number of west central Illinois pork producers will attend the annual Illinois Pork Producers conference to be held Saturday, Jan. 8, at the East Campus, Pekin Community High School, on Route 9.

Registration will begin at 8:30 a.m.

Russell Jeckel of Delavan, president, will preside at the business session. The keynote address will be made by Carroll Plager of Austin, Minn., and his subject will be "A Look into the Future 10 Years."

Miss Wright will take part in the luncheon program.

During the afternoon there will be demonstrations in pork cookery and pork cutting for the ladies. The men will attend two of four panel discussion groups on marketing ideas for 1966, current disease problems, buildings and equipment — waste disposal, credit and financing.

Those interested in attending are requested to call or see any officer of Morgan County Pork Producers or the farm adviser.

ILLINOIS OUTLOOK LETTER

HUGE BORROWING AND SPENDING BRINGS INFLATION

We have been reading and hearing a lot about inflation lately. Some people fear it. Others welcome it. Everyone should know what inflation is, what causes it, how it may be prevented, and how it affects them. Let's think about some of these things.

In economic discussions, inflation generally means an excessive swelling or increase in the supply of money in circulation. As people spend the excess money, supplies of commodities become scarce and prices rise.

If the output of goods and services keeps pace with the increase in buying power, there will be no general increase in prices — no inflation.

Buying power, or demand, appears when and where people have two things: (1) desire to buy and (2) ability to pay. Most people have a big desire to buy in relation to their ability to pay for what they want. Ability to pay, then, is generally the factor that limits demand.

Borrow, And Spend Ability to pay, in turn, depends upon how much income we have — and how much we can borrow (or buy on credit). Inflation comes when we borrow and spend too much in relation to what our nation produces.

If we borrowed only from one another, there would be no inflation. If I borrowed from you, you would give up as much buying ability as I gained. But it is a different story when we borrow from banks. For example, when I borrow $1,000 from a bank, the banker adds that amount to my checking account. When you borrow $5,000, he adds that amount to your account. No one's account is reduced. Each new borrowing adds to the bank's deposits and to the people's buying power.

Your borrowing and mine won't add a lot to the nation's spending; but when 10 million families borrow an average of $1,000 each, an added demand of $10 billion is thrown into the cash registers.

The Big Spenders Governments are usually the big spenders in inflation. Most governments can, and do, borrow from banks, even as you and I. When our government borrows $10 billion from banks, the banks add that amount to government checking accounts. When the government writes checks, the amount is transferred to accounts of the people.

One final and very important point: Government borrowing from banks is much more explosive than private borrowing. Here's why: When Uncle Sam borrows from banks, the banks receive government bonds. They can use government securities to obtain the reserves that they are required to keep on deposit with the Federal Reserve Banks. For each dollar of reserves they keep on deposit, they can extend several dollars of credit to business and individuals. Thus, when the government borrows from banks, the effects upon buying power and prices are multiplied several times. We will say more about inflation at another time.

AFBF Secretary Calls Missouri Farmer Produces 304 1/2 Corn Yield

A firm stand for "Constitutional government" as opposed to "Presidential government" was urged in Chicago Wednesday by Roger Fleming, secretary-treasurer of the nation's largest farm organization, the American Farm Bureau Federation. The issue is "one of the most important of our time," he said.

Fleming pointed to the historical American principle of separation of power among the legislative, executive and judicial branches. Separation, he emphasized, also means the independent use of power by each of the branches.

"To keep their political liberty, the American people must keep and cherish their Congress — keep, cherish and strengthen it," Fleming told the 47th annual meeting of the Farm Bureau Federation at the Conrad Hilton Hotel.

"It is crystal clear," he said, "that the Congress will not survive as a viable instrument of Constitutional government unless the members of Congress, or at least a sufficient number of them, have the will to survive."

The crucial test to the question of Congressional survival, he added, is whether the Congress is prepared to say "yes" or "no" — "on its own findings and responsibility, in answer to questions of major policy."

"This it cannot do unless the individual members of Congress have the courage to speak out, to say NO even against the ever-increasing pressures from the executive."

"In turn, it will be impossible for the members of Congress to display this degree of independence, courage and responsibility unless they have the people's support."

"Can You Imagine?" He recalled that when the U.S. Senate rebuked Theodore Roosevelt for infringement upon the prerogatives of the Congress because Mr. Roosevelt had "encroached" upon the legislative branch by asking a senator to introduce a completed draft of a White House bill.

"Can you imagine the present Congress doing that?" Fleming asked, referring to the rebuke. "Most observers of the American political scene recognize," Fleming told the convention, "that the Congress is beset with real problems; however, nowhere near all of those critical of the Congress' performance want to reestablish Congress in its traditional role of dominance."

"Much Expert Help" He said that from the point of view of expert help, the Congress is as a "small shopkeeper" compared to the vast array of specialists the White House musters to stump for its cause.

"Let us note," he said, "... many content that the only 'positive function' of Congress is to approve legislation proposed by the President. Reaction is viewed by many as 'negative,' a sabotage of progress and national interest."

Fleming's annual report to the convention announced a new all-time high in membership, 1,677,820 families, a gain of more than 30,000 over the previous year.

ALEXANDER UNIT HAS PARTY IN STEVENSON HOME

The Alexander Homemaker's Unit met December 7, for the annual Christmas potluck dinner at the home of Mrs. Reed Stevenson.

Mrs. F. A. Johnson, chairman presided and welcomed the guests. Mrs. Don Johnson gave the major lesson "Values of Family Religion." The selected subject, "Holiday Fun" was presented by Mrs. Verne Bergschneider. Roll call was answered by 18 members and guests. Mrs. Reece Kern gave the secretary's report and read the Highlights of the last council meeting. A safety report was given by Mrs. Melvin Braker and Mrs. James Luken reported on the Alexander Girls 4-H Club.

Secret pals were revealed during the gift exchange. Guests were Miss Frances Webb, home adviser; Mrs. Sylvia Strawn, Mrs. Leonard Kramp, Mrs. Wayne Boston, Mrs. Paul Norfey and daughter, Mrs. Richard Cox, and Bruce Johnson.

The January meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. James Luken.

Stilbestrol Approved For Fattening Lambs

Some observations have tended to cast doubt about the role of stilbestrol in lamb-finishing programs. However, University of Illinois animal scientist U. S. Garrigus quieted those doubts for sheep producers attending the annual Illinois Sheep Day program on the U. of I. campus.

Garrigus noted that most of the objections to use of stilbestrol in lamb-finishing rations have some valid basis.

"However, optimum feeding conditions will practically eliminate these problems," he explained. "Studies consistently show that gain by 10 to 40 percent and feed utilization efficiency by 5 to 15 percent."

"These increases, coupled with a relatively leaner carcass produced with stilbestrol, make it imperative that producers feeding relatively high levels of stilbestrol to young feeder lambs use stilbestrol in their feeding programs."

Garrigus said that the main objections to stilbestrol in lamb-finishing programs have been that the hormone (1) causes lamb pelts to adhere more strongly to the carcass, (2) increases incidence of "water belly," (3) increases carcass cooler shrink, (4) lowers carcass grade and (5) increases the incidence of rectal and vaginal prolapse.

Garrigus briefly discussed each of these objections.

"Reports from both Illinois and Iowa clearly indicate that a skilled pelt attachment on lambs treated with stilbestrol is no different from lambs, Garrigus said. "However, this difference has not reduced the value of carcasses in the packing plant."

Garrigus said that, if urinary calculi are a problem, stilbestrol may aggravate the difficulty by increasing tissue growth near the urethra.

He pointed out that cooler shrink caused by stilbestrol is a minor problem because consumers today prefer a higher ratio of lean to fat in their diets. He also noted that carcass grades are not the problem they used to be when USDA grading standards required a higher degree of fat in the choice grades.

"Increased rectal or vaginal prolapses have been largely associated with excessive treatments of stilbestrol," Garrigus explained. "At present recommended levels, stilbestrol does not appear to increase prolapse above usual levels."

"All of these observations strongly support the use of stilbestrol at recommended dosages for finishing lambs," Garrigus said. "Stilbestrol produces faster and more economical gains, and the resulting carcasses meet present USDA grading standards."

BIRTHDAY PARADE

HERBIE LINDSAY was guest of honor at a birthday party recently given by his parents Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Lindsay, Franklin. Appropriate games were played with prizes being awarded. Cake and home-made ice-cream were served. Present were: Tracy Leadill, Barbie Hamilton, Jerry Paton, Phillip Garvin, Tommy Cody, Kristine Stottler, Charlotte Smith, Michelle and Kevin Barnes, Patty and Frances Mason, Herbie, Melody and Pamela Lindsay, Mrs. Edward Strubbe, Mrs. Kawayn Moody, Mrs. Vernon Opperman and Cheryl, and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Lindsay.

DONALD POND, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Pond, Mt. Sterling, was two years old Nov. 30. His grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Landis Pond and Mrs. Dorothy Kissick of Jacksonville.

BIRTHDAY WISH

WHEN IS YOUR BIRTHDAY?

Two weeks before your birthday (sooner if you wish we will hold material for Sunday nearest your birthday) send your name, address, age, birthdate and parents names to the Junior Page, Jacksonville Journal Courier, Jacksonville, Ill., and you will be put in the Birthday Parade. If you wish send a photo. This may be picked up as soon as it appears in the paper.

RODNEY LESLIE ANKROM writes, "I was three years old Dec. 14. My parents are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ankrom, R.R. 4, and I have one brother Michael who is three months old. My grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Fortado, 232 E. Dunlap and Mrs. and Mrs. Leslie Ankrom, R.R. #4."

Let's Go Birding

White-Winged Crossbills Again

By Emma Mae Leonhard

Whatever the season—spring or winter, summer or fall—and whatever the terrain—sand or silt, hills or plains, marshes or rivers—we can find some bird life. When winter approaches, we usually lose our flycatchers, warblers, shorebirds, and thrushes. When winter is here, we hope for the finches, particularly the Winter Finches.

Among those bounding birds, many times colorful, we expect to find the buzzy Pine Siskins or the ticking Purple Finches; of course the dipping Goldfinches and the whistling Cardinals, both permanent residents with us.

We hope for a few Red Crossbills and maybe a Redpoll, or an Evening Grosbeak; but we hardly dare to hope for a glimpse of the White-winged Crossbill, not even included on the field check list of Illinois birds prepared by the Illinois State Museum.

Another Surprise

But November 19 brought us the surprise again, a visit of at least six White-winged Crossbills. Some of them were seen at least four different times. On the morning of November 19, four of them appeared at the Lily pool in my garden; they clung to the edge of the pool, sipping the clear water which reflected their most interesting crossed bills. They flew into the hemlock but were soon moved out by the Blue Jays. Soon six crossbills flew over the garden, pursued by Blue Jays. Later that same morning as I was entering Tanner Library at Illinois College I heard the characteristic finch-like "chiff-chiff" and "kimp-kimp" of the White-winged Crossbill. Instinctively I looked in the same direction from which they were coming the familiar notes just in time to see the crossbills settle into the hemlock in Dr. Frank Norbury's garden. A male bird shone like a rosy-pink ornament on the top of a nearby Larch.

Seek Bird Prizes

On the morning of November 20, some of the Audubonites set out to find these bird prizes. They searched my hemlock, the hemlocks in Diamond Grove Cemetery, and the pine groves at Lake Jacksonville without any success.

Disappointed but undaunted, they returned to my garden. There in the top of the tallest hemlock three White-winged Crossbills were prying open small cones with their efficient bills and dining upon their favorite little seeds.

The two males, as rosy as a brilliant sunset, and one olive-gray female, all of them displaying their two broad white wing-bars, gave us the climax of the day—and maybe of the year. Birders never know.

CHRISTMAS

By Mary Pence Claywell

"Glory to God in the highest, and on earth Peace, good will toward men."

—St. Luke, 2:14.

THIS IS AMERICA
I know, by some, we're painted Lord.
With flinty hearts, and cold.
And so, to word-paint here,
A scene... that's very old;
And yet, it is as clear today
As "twenty" years ago...
When I glimpsed the hearts of passers-by,
Through a veil... of misty snow:
The world is in the selfsame
track,
As war guns sound afar...
But still, with courage, people march
Beneath... The Christmas Star:
They know about the war-
drums' beat,
Their hearts pierced, Lord,
as These,
When Thou wast nailed by cruel hands,
To The Cross... of Calvary:
And yet tonight, the Angels sing,
And mute the muffled drums
As a blind man strums an old guitar.
To the Hymn... "LO! JESUS COMES!"

THE HAPPY SCENE
The silver tinsel glittered,
And the patter of passing feet,
Kept time to the happy laughter
Of the people on the street:
Then a worn guitar and a Singer,
And a "Hymn" all seemed a part Of the happy Christmas Spirit.
That lived... in a people's heart:

A pause, as the Soul of a Nation
Shone forth life a brilliant ray
Of Light... on the gifted Singer,
And his endless roundelay:
And I watched the Spirit of GIVING
Unfold like a gilded scroll.
As a blind man glimpsed the Christmas Light,
Through the window... of his soul.
AMERICA PRAYS Somewhere... "Taps" is sounding
For someone's Son today...
Somewhere muffled war drums
Are beating... far away:
Somewhere, wounded soldiers
Await a rescue team...
Somewhere a life is ending,
With someone's youthful dream:
Dear Lord, the tinsel glitter,
And homelike trees are bright, Thought "Hearts' love" is divided
Upon... this Christmas night:
One half... with little "children,"
Who laugh and shout with glee;
The other half... drifts silently,
To those... across the sea:
BLESS THE CHILDREN
Dear Father, Bless the little ones,
Who are too small to know
The meaning of the war
drums,
Where fire... and shrapnel glow:
And Bless the ones, Dear

OUT OF THE WAY ECLIPSE

By Walter B. Hendrickson Jr.

An eclipse of the sun took place on November 23. Like most eclipses this one was in an out of the way part of earth. This time it was along a 50 mile wide strip of the earth from northern India, across Burma, Thailand and northern New Guinea to the Solomon Islands.

The team came equipped with all the latest devices for collecting every possible bit of information on the eclipse. Among the instruments were two camera equipped scanning telescopes fitted with radio receivers and chronometers (24-hour clocks) so that they could take pictures with a tenth of a second timing. More pictures were taken by a lensless K-22 aerial camera system at the rate of one every two seconds. Ingenious Device

Billy's Big Surprise

By John Rankin

As Billy and his mother go holiday shopping and Billy wonders as he sees police officers here and there. Then he sees something even more surprising that sends him right to the officer at the door. The burly officer leaned over and listened attentively as Billy whispered a few hurried words in his ear. Then as he straightened and turned his attention to the wheelchair the tall, shabbily dressed man suddenly broke for the door. But the hefty policeman was on him in a flash and brought him down. Then seizing him by the neck he jerked him roughly to his feet, and with a deft movement slipped the glove from his left hand and flicked the dark glasses off his face. "Kid Was Right!" The officer peered into the et under the blanket. Then after exploring further his hand closed on a compact bundle under the seat. "Ah! An artist's quick-change kit," he exclaimed. "Everything from a wig and false face for and old lady to a long white beard!"

At home that night Dad looked up from the evening paper as Billy and Mom came down stairs to join him in the living room.

"A neat bit of sleuthing on your part today, son," he said with pride. "According to city police those crooks would hide out somewhere in the back of the store, and with the aid of various tricks of the trade, would change from the tall fellow and the little old lady to a shorter and better dressed guy and a real old man as they roamed through the store pilfering everything they could get their hands on."

Mystery Solved
"But the difference in height? How do the police account for that?" Mom wanted to know. "Oh that was simple enough, my dear-built-up shoes took care of that problem," Dad said with a light shrug. "Seems those crooks thought of just

Eisenhower Blasts Crimsons By 87-66

DECATUR — Powerful Decatur Eisenhower had too much of everything here Friday night, and knocked the Jacksonville Crimsons from the ranks of the unbeaten with a convincing 87-66 Capitol Conference triumph over the visitors.

The once-beaten Panthers deployed an effective press and superior rebounding into a sizeable first-half lead that was never threatened. The Crimsons were never in the game after a blazing 60% second quarter in which the Panthers pulled away to a 44-27 halftime lead, behind the hot shooting of Mahlon Sanders and George Watkins, each of whom threw in 16 points in the half.

Some early mistakes, caused by the Eisenhower press, got the Crimsons in the hole midway in the first period, and the Panthers kept pouring it on the rest of the way.

For the game Jacksonville hit a respectable 42% rate, as compared to Eisenhower's 48% rate, well over 50% in the second half. The Crimsons committed 17 turnovers, as compared to 12 by the winners, most of which came near the end when the game was decided. Eisenhower got off 78 shots, to only 46 by the losers.

First Half Eisenhower

The first half was all Eisenhower, especially in a blazing second quarter in which Eisenhower shot a hot 60% on ten of their 20 attempts from the field.

The Panther press began to tell its toll in the opening minutes. In the first period alone the Crimsons committed six turnovers from which the hosts converted into ten points.

Eisenhower's superiority on the boards was noted by the fact that the Panthers took 24 shots in the opening period to only ten by the Crimsons.

Eisenhower's sophomore Watkins scored the first 12 points for the Panthers, as the hosts moved from two early ties and a one-point JHS lead to a 19-13 first-period margin.

After Robin Manker moved the Crimsons to within 19-14 to open the second period, the two clubs traded two buckets apiece before Eisenhower began to move away. Four straight buckets, two coming off easy layups after Panther steals off the reserve Gary Hartman and Sanders again erased any doubt, shooting Eisenhower into a 21-point margin, 79-58, with three minutes to play.

Jacksonville fell to 3-1 with the loss, 1-1 in the conference, while Eisenhower moved up to 3-1, 1-0 in the league.

Pittsfield Tops Routt Easily 59-42

PITTSFIELD — The highly-favored Pittsfield Saukees rebounded from a surprising first-quarter deficit to win going away in a 59-42 non-conference victory over Routt, here Friday night.

After trailing by 9-8 at the first stopping point, the Saukees got hot and rolled to a decisive 27-14 intermission lead and were never threatened after that.

The two clubs played on even terms in the second quarter, with the Saukees moving farther away in the closing minutes. Neither team was overly effective on their own shooting, with the winners hitting on 22 of their 65 shots for a 33% clip, and Routt canning 16 of their 60 tries for a cold 26% rate.

Three players hit for double figures for the winning Saukees, while Mike Fitzpatrick hit 18 and Chuck McNeely 11 for the losers.

Pittsfield upped its season record to 5-1, while Routt took its fourth straight loss with a victory.

Beardstown Trips Hornets By 47-40

MT. STERLING — Beardstown poured on the steam in the final eight minutes to post a 47-40 triumph over Brown County, here Friday night.

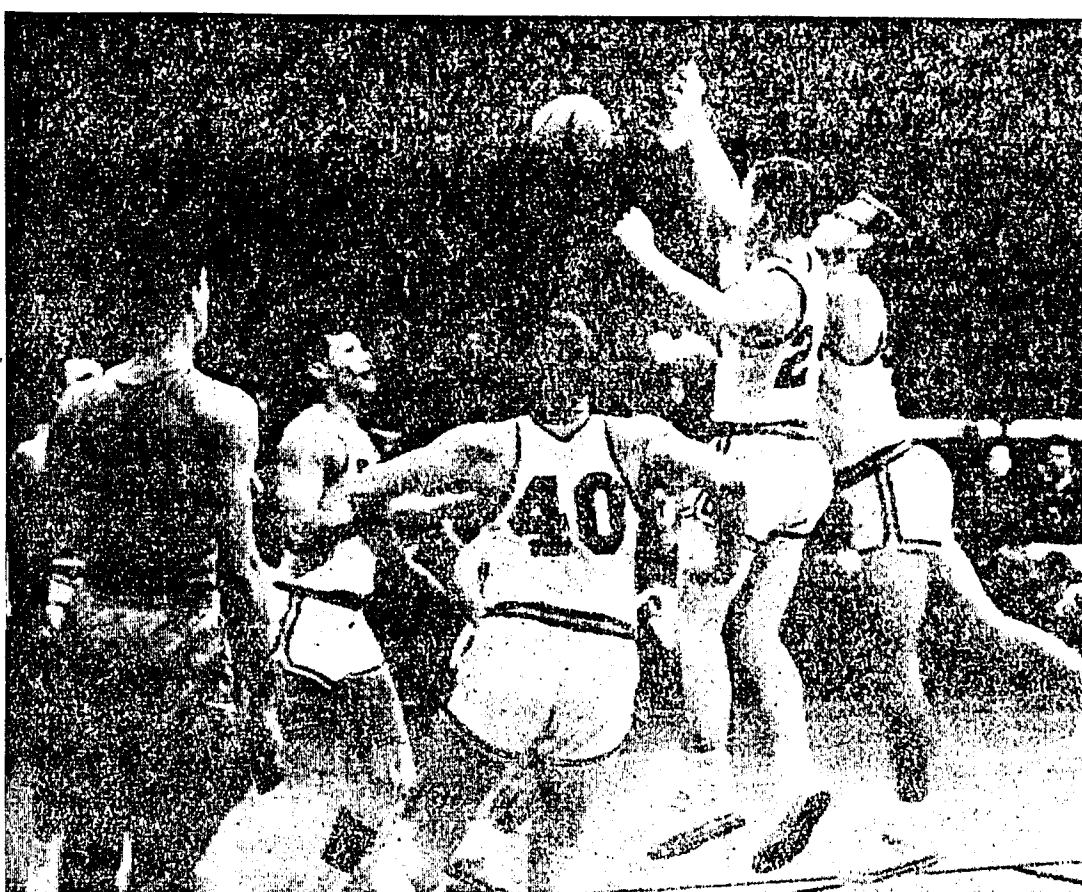

The two clubs were tied 10-10 at the first stopping point, with Beardstown leading by a pair at halftime. Brown County rallied back to knot the count at the end of the third frame before Beardstown broke open the tight contest in the closing seconds.

Bill Kirschner led all scorers with 18 for Beardstown, while Bo Weber and Gary McCaskill each had ten for the losers.

CHANDLERVILLE — The high-scoring Chandlerville Comets, led by Bill Collins' 32 points, racked up a surprisingly easy 93-57 PMSC conference triumph over the previously-unbeaten Virginia Redbirds, here Friday night.

The pressing and fast-breaking Comets raced to a 25-15 bulge in the opening eight minutes, and increased it to 46-25 at halftime. Collins threw in 15 points in the first quarter and had 23 by intermission.

The lead stayed the same distance through the third stanza, but the Comets won going away with a 23-8 difference in the final eight minutes.

The Comets outrebounded the much taller Redbirds, with Dean Eilers pulling down 13 and Wayne Gurney nine. Neither are over six foot.

For the game Chandlerville managed to hit 49% of their shots, while Virginia canned 36% of their tries.

Following Collins' 32 points, four other Comets hit in double figures. Steve Larsen topped the losers with 18.

Mac Wins 5th, Tops U. Of Alberta 79-65

Highlander guard Tom Cochran tallied 16 points in the second half of play Friday night as the MacMurray quintet notched their fifth win of the early campaign with a 79-65 triumph over the University of Alberta, Canada.

Cochran, a sophomore from Springfield, recorded the Clansmen's seven markers of the second frame, as they moved a 39-32 halftime edge into a 17-point spread in the opening minutes after the intermission, and coasted home with the win.

Using a tough zone defense throughout the contest, the Alberta Golden Bears forced the Highlanders to depend on shooting from the outside, a style of ball the Canadian club seemingly faces.

Cochran, and teammate guard Fred Lewis met the challenge.

However, matching Alberta's sharp-shooting back-courter Darwin Semotuk from the outside, Semotuk paced all scorers in the contest with 24, 20 of which came from the 25 foot range.

Gain Spread
The Clan opened the early scoring with a 4-0 lead, but soon trailed 9-4, as Semotuk brought the small crowd alive with successive markers from the outside.

Holding the Golden Bears scoreless for the next five minutes, the Clansmen moved to a 16-9 advantage as the starting five each recorded a marker.

Not to be denied, Alberta continued to cut away at the Clan margin in the intermediate minutes of the first frame to finally knot the contest at 27-27 with 5:00 remaining.

Hold Lead
Both clubs again traded buckets in the closing time, with Ed Blott hitting three straight from the outside for Alberta, while Lewis, and Mac season high-scorer Chuck Hundley countered for the locals.

Two successive steals by MacMurray ended the see-saw contest, however, as they pulled PALMYRA — Northwestern center Ron Paluska tallied 11 points in the final quarter here Friday night in leading the Wildcats on a 26 point outburst to overcome a 10 point deficit to capture a 62-60 margin over non-conference foe, Calhoun.

Paluska recorded three field goals and five charity tosses in the frame, which saw the locals grab the lead for the first time midway through the span, and move it to six before the Warriors closed the gap in the final minute.

The win places the Wildcats over the 500 mark for the campaign with a 4-3 record.

Busch Stadium Grass To Have Warm Toes

Turf heating with underground electric cables now can insure snow-free football fields and green baseball diamonds for the opening game, agricultural engineers attending the 1965 winter meeting of the American Society of Agricultural Engineers in Chicago, were told recently.

Buying Station Near Greenfield To Open Monday

CARROLLTON — The newly completed hog buying facility of Illinois Producers Livestock association will open Monday, Dec. 20, just south of Greenfield, Illinois. This new market will be the Cooperative's 41st such operation in Illinois and Iowa.

I.P.L.A. is a farmer owned cooperative that is affiliated with the Illinois Agricultural association and the Iowa Farm Bureau federation. Eight of the 41 markets owned by I.P.L.A. are located in Iowa. I.P.L.A. serves about 50,000 patrons altogether.

The cooperative operates at three terminal markets as a commission firm: Chicago, Peoria and Springfield. In addition, they supply feeder pigs, feeder cattle and feeder lambs to farmers upon order.

During the last fiscal year their volume was 2,225,691 head of livestock valued at $132,000,000. The cooperative attempts to operate on the smallest margin practical. Last year net income before taxes came to $138,000 which figures about one-tenth of one percent of the value of the livestock.

I.P.L.A.'s Board of Directors consists of thirteen men, ten from Illinois and three from Iowa. Phillip Snell of Auburn, Sangamon county, is the director representing this area.

I.P.L.A. transferred its experienced manager at Tampico, Ill., to the new yard at Greenfield. He is Bob Walleck, who has already been in this area for several weeks becoming acquainted with the farmers. Walleck stated that the Greenfield Yards will be open five days a week and that he will welcome everyone who has an opportunity to stop in and see the facility and learn about I.P.L.A.'s method of operation.

PLAN RECEPTION IN CELEBRATION OF GOLDEN DATE

JERSEYVILLE — Mr. and Mrs. Lee Nail of Jerseyville, will celebrate the 50th anniversary of their wedding with a reception to be held in the Fellowship Hall of the First Baptist Church of Jerseyville Dec. 26 from 2 to 5 p.m. No written invitations are being sent.

The children of the celebrants are planning the reception and request no gifts.

Mrs. Nail was formerly Miss Edith Keehner, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Keehner and Mr. Nail's parents were the late Mr. and Mrs. Barber Nail. The couple was married in St. Louis by Rev. H. S. Hughey of the Hearney Heights Presbyterian Church.

ORIGIN UNKNOWN

It is not known when and where the custom of the Christmas tree began, but many legends are told about its origin. It is thought that the custom is a survival of the tree worship of ancient Germanic tribes.
